Special Session Of Legislature On Floods

Disease Danger On Fraser Halts Evacuees' Return

VANCOUVER, (CP)—A new and grave danger loomed in the flooded Fraser Valley today—the threat of disease.

Mass movement of evacuees back to their homes was abandoned as the provincial health department condemned inundated valley fields and homes.

The order will not be lifted until inspection of individual homes has been made and houses approved as sanitary.

Only three partial areas will be free of water in the immediate future—Agassiz, Harrison and Mission flats.

Fight against disease is rapidly taking priority. It is estimated 18,000 anti-typhoid inoculations have been given in the valley.

A column of cattle trucks led the return of a few farmers to their flood-ravaged homes in Yarrow and Sumas Prairie, 60 miles east of here.

However, two top-flight engineers who inspected the Vedder canal dike at Sumas warned that evacuees should not return until the Mission gauge reads 18 feet. The Fraser today at Mission is rolling along at 23 feet.

"There can be no question of complete safety at this time," warned Seattle engineers Raymond Bracelin and John Monarch. Sandbagging is continuing on the Vedder dike.

However, some residents started the trek home, confident that the Fraser onslaught had subsided.

The federal government was being asked what it planned to help put farmers in the stricken Fraser Valley back on their feet. James Sinclair, member for Vancouver North, said in the Commons Monday night that an immediate announcement of the government's plans would do much for the morale of the victims, who have lost an estimated $25,000,000 in crops, livestock, farm homes, barns and implements.

Surveys showed a death list of possibly 10, with many more injured and thousands homeless.

As for flood fighters, today's recession of floods brought slight relaxation after three weeks of ceaseless toil in the task of bolstering weakened dikes.

Mr. Sinclair, querying the government concerning its pledge to join the province in financing British Columbia's recovery, said "this country has done so much for the hungry people of Europe that the people expect the government to do as much, if not more, for the people of British Columbia."

He wanted to see a long-range program of flood control and diking to prevent future flood damage in the fertile Fraser Valley.

Columbia River Expected To Take Weeks To Return To Normal Level

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Columbia River flood waters from the Rockies to the Pacific were receding at all river gauges today.

The river will remain above flood stage in the lower valley for three weeks while inching downward. The danger now is that weakened levees may collapse after 25 days of pounding.

There are 41 known dead in the wake of the region's greatest disaster in the 1,000-mile-long river valley.

Some 60,000 are homeless in the U.S. and Canadian flood zones. Damage is in multimillions.

Still a mystery is the exact toll in the May 30 Memorial Day destruction of the flimsy war-built apartment homes of 18,700 at Vanport, Ore. Five bodies have been recovered, but the Red Cross names 28 on its list of men, women and children missing since the Sunday afternoon tragedy. This list once totaled 121, was pared to 18 and then Monday the names of 10 bachelor trade union men were added.

The army engineers warned today that the river could still punch out soggy dikes guarding areas from Portland-Vancouver, Wash., to the Pacific.

Evacuees in Washington, north Idaho, western Montana and Oregon are anxious to return to their homes. But it will be weeks before their houses are cleaned out, utilities restored and homes habitable. For the Vanport survivors, war-surplus trailers and housing are beginning to arrive. Permanent housing plans are underway.

$6,000,000 PLAN TO REBUILD DIKES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives appropriations committee recommended today $6,000,000 for emergency repairs to levees in the Columbia River flood area in the northwest.

This is in addition to the $10,000,000 made available Saturday for emergency housing at flood-swept Vanport and the Portland area of Oregon.

Senate Group Urges B.C.-Alaska Railway

Washington (AP) — Study of the possibility of linking Canada and Alaska by railroad was recommended today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

It sent to the Senate a resolution which would require the state department to ask the Canadian government to survey the plan.

The resolution suggests a rail link between the British Columbia government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway ending at Quesnel, and the U.S. government-owned Alaskan railroad terminating at Fairbanks.

The Senate must approve the resolution before it can become effective.

Charge Withdrawn

NANAIMO (CP)—The Crown today withdrew a manslaughter charge against Robert N. Carlow in connection with the accidental hunting death of his cousin at Robertson River this spring. At an April hearing, the Assize Court jury failed to agree in the Carlow case.

Mayhew Applauded

OTTAWA (CP) — Fisheries Minister Mayhew was applauded by his colleagues in the Commons today when he moved into a cabinet seat for the first time since his appointment last Friday.

Last Special Session On Gasoline Crisis

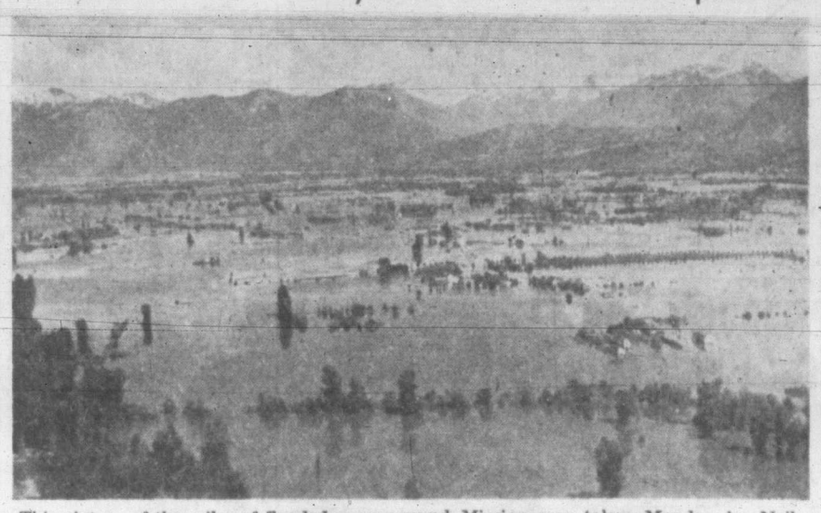
Premier Johnson's announcement today that the Legislature will meet in special session on flood rehabilitation and relief on July 7 brings to mind the last special session of a B.C. Legislative Assembly in 1940.

T. D. Pattullo was premier then and on April 30 he called the session for May 8 to enact regislation giving the government power to take over distribution and sale of gasoline and petroleum products in the province.

Members had eight days in which to prepare for the session and travel to Victoria. This time they have 22 days.

The session lasted three days and in addition to the gasoline control legislation, several other bills were passed.

Vast Areas In Fraser Valley Must Drain Or Be Pumped Out



This picture of the miles of flooded areas around Mission was taken Monday by Neil Macdougall from an R.C.A.F. plane. The gauge at Mission recorded a drop of several inches overnight, but little flooded land has been uncovered as yet. In many places pumps will have to take the waters from behind dikes and put it back in the Fraser.

Water was still racing under the damaged Mission bridge Monday. The gap caused by the carrying away of one of the spans is shown as well as the break in the dike.

Alexander In Rio Witnesses Big Brazilian Arms Display

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP)—Brazil today put on its greatest military display in recent years as 35,000 fully-equipped soldiers and the newest weapons, including heavy tanks, rolled on past the reviewing stand and the honored guest, Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-General of Canada.

The parade marked Brazil's celebration of "Military Day." Later Lord Alexander, addressing a huge crowd in Vila Militar, saluted the Brazilian army for its help in defeating Germany.

Lord Alexander, who was commander of the Allied Mediterranean forces, said the arrival of Brazil's expeditionary force in Italy in 1944 "put fresh heart into all of us."

BROKE THROUGH

He recalled that the Italian campaign was always difficult since the terrain favored defence and the Germans had more divisions than the Allies.

"And yet, in spite of these difficulties," he added, "we smashed through the strongly prepared positions of the Gothic Line and that great final battle of northern Italy compelled the enemy to lay down his arms in unconditional surrender—what a victory!"

"On May 6, 1945, close to 1,000,000 men were taken prisoner. This great victory in which you took an important and active part heralded the collapse of the Nazis in Europe and signalled the end of the war against Hitler."

Later Viscount Alexander placed a wreath on the monument of the Duke of Caxias, patron of the Brazilian army remembered for unifying the dissident provinces into the present-day Brazil.

The military observance today were one of the highlights of Viscount Alexander's six-day state visit, which will end Thursday evening, when the Governor-General leaves by air for Canada.

Monday, Lord Alexander addressed the Brazilian Congress. He said Brazil and Canada have many things in common, but their greatest link is a common aversion to tyranny.

"We both love peace, but we love freedom best and are prepared to fight for it," he added.

Monday night at a state dinner at the foreign office Viscount Alexander told President Eurico Gaspar Dutra of Brazil:

"My hope and wish is that the bonds of friendship and comradeship between Canada and Brazil so happily grown up in the past will not only continue but grow ever stronger as the years roll by. We fought together in war—we will strive together in the cause of peace."

Tear Gas Guns On Great Lakes Ships If Seamen Clash

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Capt. Norman Reoch, operating manager of Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., which is engaged in a dispute with the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.), said today his company planned to outfit its ships with tear gas guns if necessary, in an effort to prevent C.S.U. men boarding the ships.

In Montreal Monday night C.S.U. members boarded the Kinmount and induced the crew to go ashore, but today a new crew, members of Pat Sullivan's Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, which has an agreement with the C.S.L., went aboard.

The crew which left the Kinmount last night was the fourth crew to leave the vessel this season.

"We aim to keep our ships moving and we intend to give our crews every protection in carrying out their duties," said Capt. Reoch, "and, if necessary, will install tear gas guns on the ships to protect the crews from boarding parties."

Congress Sends Amended Trade Act To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress passed and sent to the White House today a Republican-sponsored bill extending the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for one year, with some changes in its provisions.

The House completed congressional action, passing the tariff bill by voice vote after accepting amendments tacked on by the Senate in adopting the measure Monday.

In approving a one-year extension and changing provisions of the act, the Republican-dominated Congress again disregarded recommendations of President Truman.

The administration had asked for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade measure without changes. Unless Mr. Truman should veto the Republican-sponsored bill, it will revive the Trade Agreements Act which expired last Saturday midnight.

Urging renewal of the act on "as is" basis, Secretary of State Marshall had told Congress any other action would cripple the country's global economic leaders.

'PERIL POINTS'

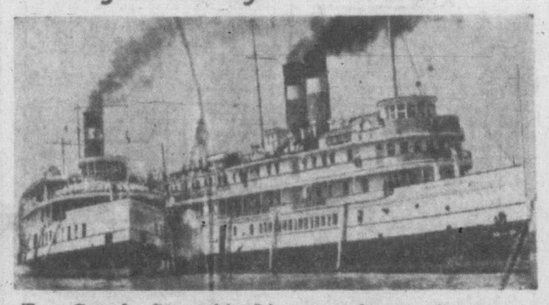
The Republican-backed bill gives new authority to the federal Tariff Commission to recommend "peril points" beyond which the commission feels the President should not go in making agreements. The commission would have to make such reports within four months after it is called upon to do so.

The President could disregard these recommendations, but would have to tell Congress why he did so within 30 days.

A provision in the original House bill giving Congress "veto power" over agreements when the President overrides tariff commission recommendations was stricken from the bill by the Senate. The House accepted that action.

Democrats fought to the last in an effort to get an extension of the bill without changes.

Exchange Passengers Offshore



Two Canada Steamship Lines vessels are shown exchanging passengers in midstream instead of docking at Prescott, Ont. Is was said the operation in the St. Lawrence was a precaution in view of the Canadian Seamen's Union strike at Prescott and other points along the river.

Members To Meet July 7 To Consider Plans For Rehabilitation, Relief

The Provincial Cabinet today called a special session of the Legislature for July 7 to vote necessary funds for relief and rehabilitation in the washed-out areas of the Fraser Valley.

Premier Byron Johnson said the Legislature will be asked also to make provisions for assisting other flooded areas of the province as well as the Fraser Valley.

"Although the Fraser Valley has occupied the almost undivided attention of the government, the executive council has not lost sight of the distress and lost property caused by flood conditions in other parts of the province," he stated.

The province will not be assisted by the federal government in giving relief to and rehabilitating areas other than the Fraser Valley. It is only in the Fraser area that flood conditions are considered to have reached national disaster proportions.

The federal government has agreed to pay 75 per cent of the costs of reconstruction of dikes, protective work that has been carried out in combatting the rampaging waters, and pumping of water from inundated lands.

The Legislature will be asked to make the 25 per cent available.

Arrangements for complete reconstruction of the dikes, repairs and removal of water were made by Premier Johnson with federal authorities in Ottawa last week.

COSTS EQUALLY SHARED

Cost of relief will be shared equally by the two governments.

It now remains for an arrangement to be made between the governments on the sharing of rehabilitation costs, and Premier Johnson plans to proceed with these negotiations as speedily as possible.

He hopes to be in the position, when the special session of the Legislature convenes, to be able to advise the members officially of the arrangements the government has made, and secure funds for the work on that basis.

The setting up of the two-man commission, of which Hon. Eric W. Hamber is the provincial representative, and Maj.-Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister the federal appointee, has been approved by order-in-council and the duties of the commission outlined.

Voting of the funds will allow the commission to exercise its powers.

The commission is to inquire into the nature and extent of damage in the valley and to advise what measures are required for the relief of suffering and for the rehabilitation of the areas, and, more particularly:

ADVICE ON MEASURES

"To make an interim report with the least delay possible, advising what measures are required to be taken for immediate relief, and to make such further reports from time to time, with reference to relief and rehabilitation, as may be expedient to enable the governments of Canada and British Columbia to adopt necessary measures as expeditiously as possible."

The order continues:

"Subject to obtaining such powers and authority from the Parliament of Canada and the Legislature of British Columbia as may be required, to carry out such measures for relief and rehabilitation in the areas as may be approved by the governments of Canada and British Columbia from time to time; such measures to be financed out of moneys granted by the governments."

The order directs all government departments and agencies to co-operate fully with the relief commission by providing technical or other officers.

It also provides for the provincial government to reimburse the federal government for one-half the amount of the expenses of the commission.

Danube Shipping Conference Wins Russian Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Russia has accepted a United States proposal to hold a 10-country conference July 30 to arrange for free international navigation on the Danube River.

In a reply announced by the State Department, Russia also withdrew previous opposition to Austria's taking part in the conference. Moscow said it is willing to invite Austria to send representatives in a non-voting capacity.

The Soviet note, dated June 12, said Yugoslavia advised it would be difficult to provide facilities for holding the conference at Belgrade.

Russia proposed instead that it be held in the capital of one of the other Soviet bloc Danube states.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian National Railways expect to run their trains into Vancouver by Thursday, officials said here today. The C.P.R. expects to resume direct service by tomorrow or Thursday.

3 Planes Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — Three B-17 planes are missing on a flight from the Azores to Corsica, the United States Coast Guard said today. They were last heard from at 9.50 a.m. E.D.T. today when one reported an engine afire.

Call For Rainmaker

REGINA (CP)—Perturbed by lack of rain, the Spiritriver, Alta., Board of Trade today appealed to Donald Johnson of Regina to appear posthaste with his "universcope" and end drought in that Peace River region. Johnson, currently engaged in working on rain in the Medicine Hat area, claims to draw water from lightning and moonbeams—and for free.

Smelting Company To Spend $400,000 In Flood Areas

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—More than $400,000 will be spent by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company to aid in the rehabilitation of flood-damaged Kimberley and Trail.

"Total cost to the company in both districts will easily amount to $400,000," said R. E. Stewart, company president.

"Damage to streets and houses in Kimberley has been extensive. In Trail, because of preventive work, the damage has not been so serious."

It has been estimated that property loss in Kimberley, a mining community, will total about $1,000,000.

Sixty houses were destroyed in Kimberley by flood waters or dynamited to clear the rampaging Mark Creek early in the month. At the smelter city of Trail, the Columbia River caused heavy damage.

The company has contributed $50,000 to the B.C. Flood Emergency Fund, which totals nearly $1,500,000.

Damage to public works alone in Kimberley, including streets and pedestrian bridges, totals $135,000, civic authorities reported.

Arabs Explore Problems Of Palestine Settlement

CAIRO (AP)—The Arab countries' political delegates and army chiefs of staff met here today. Arab League secretary-general Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha said their purpose was an "exploratory discussion" of the Palestine problem.

Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations' mediator, left Rhodes for Cairo. He plans to meet with the Arab leaders here and then go to Tel Aviv Thursday to confer with Jewish authorities before returning to his Rhodes headquarters.

The Holy Land continued mostly quiet on the fifth day of the truce arranged by Bernadotte to pave the way for negotiations toward lasting peace there.

The Arab League political and military committees met together for five minutes and then the military leaders withdrew to a separate meeting.

REPLY AWAITED

Before the joint session, the secretary-general told reporters the political committee was waiting for Bernadotte's reply to Arab charges of Jewish truce violations.

He said the mediator had not proposed formally to the Arabs any round-table Arab-Jewish conference, "though he may have made verbal hints to some representatives." He would not forecast Arab acceptance or rejection of any such proposal.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, Bernadotte's assistant on Rhodes, sidestepped a yes-or-no answer whether a round-table meeting was thought possible. But he asked:

"What difference does it make how the talks are conducted if they end in peace?"

Palace officials in Amman, Trans-Jordan capital, said Monday night King Abdullah had invited King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia to pay him a state call.

Rising Costs, Income Problems For Transit Systems, Says Grauer

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Over-all problem of urban transit systems is insufficient income because the industry is "particularly open to the pressure of rising costs," A. E. Grauer of Vancouver said today.

In an address during the second day of the three-day 43rd annual convention of the Canadian Transit Association, Mr. Grauer, president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, charged that governmental bodies, especially municipalities, "tend to look upon transit industry operations as a sitting duck for taxation purposes."

The general wholesale price index affecting the transit industry has risen a total of 95 per cent since 1939, the speaker said. Wage costs have almost doubled.

AVOIDING STRIKES

Mr. Grauer said union leadership had not overlooked the fact that "because mass transportation is essential to the daily functioning of any city, management and civic as well as provincial governments will go to considerable lengths to avoid strikes."

The transit industry also had been a relatively easy one for communistic infiltration, he said.

"Communistic and communistic-front organization have, in our system (B.C.E.R.), opposed all fare increases, regardless of facts, just because they consider such opposition stirs up dissatisfaction with the present system and furthers their own objectives," he said.

Speaking of taxation, Mr. Grauer said the B.C.E.R. paid a total of $860,000 a year in taxes and that more than 11 per cent of gross revenue went to provincial and municipal bodies even though the system did not earn a single dollar of net revenue.

"This is a tremendous burden to put on any industry, let alone one that is giving a basic public service primarily to lower income groups," he said.

INFORMATION NEEDED

E. H. Furlong of Windsor, Ont., chairman of the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway Co., urged increased use of public relations throughout the industry.

"I believe that when the public has the proper information, it has no difficulty in coming to the proper conclusions," Mr. Furlong said.

"One of the best ways to do this is to keep the local newspapers of your city well informed on the activities of the transit system in their community. Thus, through the news column and paid advertising, the riding public are also well acquainted with the progress as well as the problems of operation."

Mr. Furlong stressed that "carefully trained and courteous employees" play a major part in public relations between the company and its passengers.

ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATION FOILED—What promised to be a monster anti-American demonstration by several thousands of Shanghai students was frustrated when large forces of heavily-armed policemen, garrison and security troops "froze" the would-be demonstrators in various parts of Shanghai, China. Facing them was a continuous line of police with rifles and bayonets.—NEA Telephoto.

Aero Medical Association Discusses Fliers' Problems

TORONTO (CP)—In modern long-range flying, aircraft sometimes pass through a range of temperatures from 95 degrees above to 30 degrees below zero in a day.

The problem of providing suitable clothing for such great temperature variations is one of many subjects to be discussed at the Aero Medical Association convention in Toronto tomorrow.

Six hundred scientists and doctors from South Africa, South America, Mexico, Great Britain, the United States and Canada will attend the three-day meet.

They will hear experts describe latest research in night vision, sonics and vibration, color vision, decompression sickness and other subjects peculiar to aviation medicine. Afternoons will be spent at the R.C.A.F.'s famous Institute of Aviation Medicine.

There they will examine new sound research rooms where problems created by faster-than-sound flying will be studied.

Also on view will be the "human accelerator," the machine constructed by Canadian scientists during the war which enabled Wing Cmdr. W. R. Franks to develop the G-suit to overcome blackout.

Dr. S. Fiske and W. P. Thom, members of the plane crew who hold the present round-the-world flight record, are scheduled to describe their flight.

Survival problems of airmen in the Arctic will be explained by experts from Ottawa.

Says No Scientific Proof In Claims To Relieve Arthritics

"Naturally we are interested in any efforts to alleviate the suffering of victims of arthritis, but to date there is no scientific support to Mr. Green's system, as expressed, to bring relief."

This was the comment of Dr. W. E. M. Mitchell, president of the Victoria Medical Society, today in regard to the claims of Lou Green, 57, Bainbridge Lake, near Port Alberni, to have scored considerable success in the relief of arthritics.

Dr. Mitchell said a scientific basis of proof is required for the cure of a disease which has baffled the medical fraternity. "Until he can show us that we cannot accept his claims," he added.

A large crowd of persons, many extreme sufferers of the virulent form of rheumatism of the joints, attended the Esquimalt Legion Hall on Admirals Road last night and heard Mr. Green, amateur chemist and former mining man, tell how he had partially or completely cured many arthritics.

Aubrey Jones, branch honorary-secretary, was chairman. A loud-speaker system enabled those who could not get into the crowded hall—sitting on the lawn and in cars—to hear the up-island man.

His story of how he had cured himself and others of the dreaded disease stirred hope in many present. He was swamped with pleas for consultations after the speaking was over.

In brief his theory is that by restoring the bodily elements and adding vitamins the body fluids can be replaced. When the natural fluids have re-entered the crippled joints they can be gradually restored to proper functioning.

Doctors, he said, had given up his case. He had experimented on himself before offering his unpatented medicine to other sufferers.

Power Blackout

VANCOUVER (CP) — Downtown sections of Vancouver late Monday were plunged into a 13-minute power blackout followed by a two-hour "waver."

B.C. Electric engineers, baffled by the power disruption, said youngsters may have thrown wire or other conducting material over power wires in the Burnaby area. The break was along a high voltage line in that vicinity.

The power break affected streetcar transportation and radio stations momentarily were off the air.

Students Of Dance Academy Present Anniversary Revue

Following in the graceful footsteps of professionals of the dancing world were the talented performers in the 21st Annual Revue presented by Florence Clough at the Royal Theatre yesterday evening.

From the more experienced dancers, such as Judy Mason and the corps de ballet of the Turquoise Ballet, to the tiniest wandering chicken in the opening "Country Gardens," each added a bit of charm to the original numbers.

Among the many outstanding numbers were the Mexican Fiesta Scene, and Hawaiian rythms.

The well-known Mexican Hat Dance, complete with traditional sombreros, opened the revue, which included among its Spanish dances a number by visiting young rancheros and rancheritas. Jimmie Douglas and Tommy Alexander manipulated their bull-fighter's capes to the music of the Toreador Song.

To Florence Clough goes credit also for original choregraphy, including the Ghost Town scenes, in which coquettish dance hall girls and miners, villagers and travelers, came to life for an old prospector (Ilace Roskelley) and two hitchhikers (Lucy Tomczyk and Donald Leckie.)

In the story of "The Untidy Playroom," a fairy magically brings all the dainty dolls to life. One of these, Alecia Tubman, as a rubber doll, was applauded enthusiastically for agile acrobatics.

Other acrobatic numbers, featuring May Guthrie, Lynn Johnson, Maries Stockley, Shirley Pearson, Betty Maye King, and Frances Merriman also received a warm reception.

In the same vein were the adagio interpretations of advanced students of the dance academy.

Back to the classical ballet again was the lovely Dornroschen Ballet, with ballerinas Doreen Bull, Doreen Pearson, Ilace Roskelley, Norah Rushworth, Beverley Arnet, Shirley Woodward, Audrey Latham and Glenna Pipes assisted by Ron Purcell and Gary Richardson.

From the sublime to the delightfully ridiculous, the Dornroschen Ballet was immediately followed by the farcical antics of Woodward and Baker of the Lion and the Mule.

More fantasy was provided by Frances Ives as King Dossleheimer and trumpeter, jesters, courtiers and dancers who presented a scene from a gay nursery rhyme court.

Between these and other feature numbers, the show was kept running smoothly by a series of entre-acts including tap and soft-shoe specialties.

All deserve special mention but among the most outstanding were the Russian dancers who executed the difficult trepak steps in true Cossack style; the Galliard dancers; the Russian peasant group; a smart tapper, Lynda Yee, and Pas Seul by Lucy Tomczyk.

As a salute to members of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, who sponsored the Revue, a corps of tap dancers performed with precision taps and drill team formations.

Colorful costumes were designed by Miss Clough, and music was under the direction of Reg. Wood, assisted by studio pianist Winnie Smele.

Effective scenery was by Connie Sigrist and Reg. Bullock.

To open the Revue, J. L. Hobbs spoke on behalf of the Jubilee Hospital board in appreciation of the help given by Florence Nightingale Chapter.

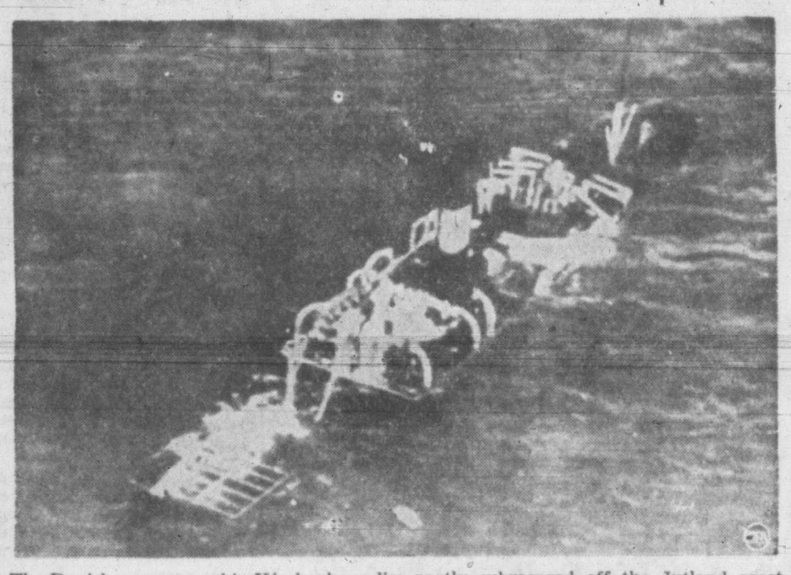
Wartime Mine Sinks Vacation-Bound Danish Ship



The Danish passenger ship Kjoebenhavn lies partly submerged off the Jutland coast after it struck a drifting magnetic mine with an estimated 400 to 450 persons aboard. Unofficial reports from Copenhagen said 150 passengers and crew members were missing. This photograph came by telegraph and radio to this continent.

C.N.R. Plans $85,000,000 Improvements In 1948

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Monday gave first reading to a bill authorizing the government to make up deficits of the Canadian National Railways and Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The bill also authorizes the C.N.R. to issue securities not exceeding $85,882,200 to pay improvements and other capital expenditures to be undertaken during 1948.

The legislation ran into early opposition. John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, and others feared the government was giving the publicly-owned railways and air lines blank cheques for any deficits they might incur.

They allowed the bill to be read a first time when Finance Minister Abbott promised to amend the bill if members felt after reading it that the rights of Parliament were being diminished.

He assured the members Parliament would have to be called on to authorize any deficits.

$59,000,000 FOR EQUIPMENT

Piloting the resolution preceding the C.N.R. bill, Gleason Belzile, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said the capital expenditures would include $20,000,000 for additions and betterments, $59,000,000 for new equipment and $1,400,000 for work on a new branch line.

Percy Black, P.C., Cumberland, N.S., and Gordon Isnor, Lib., Halifax, protested that the amount provided for betterments and additions in the Maritimes —$1,000,000—was inadequate.

Harry Jackman, P.C., Toronto-Rosedale, and N. J. A. Lockhart, P.C., Lincoln, Ont., said there might be "blank cheque" legislation hidden behind the resolution.

Mr. Lockhart said that when members sought local improvements they were "given the brush-off." But they were expected to adopt "blank cheque legislation without information.

J. L. Gibson, Ind., Comox-Alberni, said it was a poor way of doing business. The government-owned lines were being told they could come back any time and have their deficits eliminated.

Before taking up the C.N.R. resolution, the chamber had given first reading to bills repealing Ontario's pre-Confederation Lord's Day Act and providing for reconstitution of the Tariff Board.

In the question period, Transport Minister Chevrier said he presumed a formal investigation would be held into the head-on collision of two C.N.R. freight trains at Toronto Sunday.

Recalls Early Work Of United Church In Saanich Area

SIDNEY — Historical background of the United Church in the Saanich Peninsula was outlined by Rev. E. S. Fleming, pastor of St. Paul's United, at the services held Sunday, to commemorate the 75th anniversary of United Church work in the area.

Reading from the directory for 1882-83 Mr. Fleming quoted the following: "Not far from the East Road in South Saanich is a chapel belonging to the Wesleyan Methodists, where services are held periodically."

"In 1877-78, it is officially reported that the Wesleyan Methodists had a chapel near the East Road," said Mr. Fleming.

He told the congregation that Mrs. Henry Brethour started a Sunday school in her home on the East Road in 1873 and continued classes until the first Methodist Church was built at a corner of the Brethour Farm on East Road in 1891.

Rev. F. W. Anderson of First Baptist Church, Victoria, was guest preacher at the Sunday services.

Mrs. Margaret Mitchell Smith was presented with a rose for being the only person present who attended the first service in South Saanich 77 years ago.

Graduation Dance At Ganges Harbor

GANGES HARBOR — Under auspices of the Students' Council a graduation dance was held in Mahon Hall here.

The hall was decorated with paper streamers in the school colors of blue and white, with masses of broom and fern on the stage. A sit-down supper was served, which was convened by the members of grade 10.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Tester provided the music and the invited guests were the teachers and members of the school board. A prize waltz was won by Stephanie Malcheski and Tommy Reid and a spot dance by Anna St. Denis and Wayne Bradly.

GANGES HARBOR—Members of Salt Spring Island Teen-Town gave a play, 'Elmer the Youngest," in Mahon Hall, with $30 of the $60 proceeds donated to flood relief. The play was produced by Mrs. A. J. Hepburn and leading roles were played by Stephanie Malcheski, Jimmy McMullen, Dolores Lockwood and Richard Ford. Others taking part were: Diane Beech, Joyce Coels, Joyce McMillan, William Graham, Sidney Kaye, Jackie Ruddick, Pat Krebbs, Sidney Parsons, and Billy Rose. Between acts the audience was enterained by Franklin Byron and his guitar.

Pleads Guilty To Mail Fraud

SPOKANE (AP)—Dr. Harold A. Rector, Richland chiropractor, pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy, using the mails to defraud and violation of the Securities Act today as an "atomic gold recovery" trial opened in federal court.

Rector previously had pleaded innocent. He and six other defendants have been accused by United States Attorney Harvey Erickson of bilking investors of $200,000 in a scheme to extract gold from black sand by "a secret atomic process."

Plan Duncan Dominion Day Carnival

Candidates for the crown of Lumber Queen at Duncan's Dominion Day Carnival appear with the Mayor of Duncan and carnival chairman. Left to right: Eleanor Ferguson, Youbou; Moyse Hopton, chairman; Jeanne Meyland, Shawnigan Lake; Bert Evans, queen committee chairman; Sheila Burnett, Lake Cowichan; Rose Dirom, Duncan, Mayor J. C. Wragg and Joan Saunders, Chemainus.

DUNCAN—Thousands of men, women and children will come by boat, bus, train and automobile for the annual Dominion Day Carnival here, for which plans are nearing completion.

The day's events will open at 10.45 in the morning with a grand carnival parade, to mark the offical opening. At 11.30 will be the crowning of the lumber queen.

Five candidates for the queen contest are: Eleanor Ferguson, Youbou; Jeanne Meyland, Shawnigan Lake; Sheila Burnett, Lake Cowichan; Rosa Dirom, Duncan and Joan Saunders, Chemainus.

A horse show, loggers' sports, Pro-Rec. display, Oak Bay Girls' Drill Team exhibition and a military display will be among the afternoon's features. Four large bands will be in attendance and there will be a midway and children's sports.

All-star baseball will be held at 6.30 and there will be a film shown in the Agricultural Hall. More displays and a grand parade and horseshow, to be followed by a giant carnival dance will conclude the days' activities.

Salt Spring Forms Commerce Chamber

GANGES HARBOR — J. B. Foubister was elected president of the Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce at a meeting in Mahon Hall here, which decided to change the name of the organization from the Salt Spring Island Board of Trade.

Others elected were Gavin Bilton, vice-president; Miles Acheson, secretary-treasurer, and O. Leigh-Spencer, public relations officer. Named to the committee were G. Maud, D. G. Mackenzie, S. J. Wagg, J. B. Acland, Dr. G. W. Meyer, Desmond Crofton, L. G. Mouat, A. R. Layard and D. Goodman. W. E. Dipple was named auditor.

Mr. Asland gave a brief talk on the aims of the chamber of commerce and expressed the hope that it would greatly improve trade on Salt Spring Island. The sum of $100 was voted for flood relief.

Sooke Dance Revue To Aid Flood Fund

SOOKE—Second annual revue of the Sooke School of Dancing will be presented June 26 at 8 in the evening in Sooke Community Hall, with proceeds for the B.C. Flood Relief Fund.

Miss Beverley Arnet, teacher, has prepared ballet and tap dancing numbers, including "Down On a Farm," "The High Toppers" and others.

Sproat Lake Fire Now Under Control

PORT ALBERNI—British Columbia Forest Service reported Monday that the fire which demolished the Littleton Bros.' Lumber Company mill at Sproat Lake during the week-end, causing an estimated $80,000 damage, is now under control and confined to the mill area.

Fire hazard was greatly reduced by rainfall which was general over the southerly portion of the province, forest service officials said.

SOME CONTROL JUSTIFIED

RESPONSIBLE PUBLISHERS IN ALL countries which enjoy a free press have maintained, and will continue to maintain, a strong defence against interference by authorities with their right to carry all the news that is fit to print. This applies equally to publications which do not deal specifically with news but which make vital contributions to the spread of information. The attitude is justified by the self-censorship which the craft imposes upon itself—the exercise of judgment in the material it handles. That isolated instances occur which reflect an absence of this judgment serves only to emphasize the point that its exercise is preponderantly sound.

With this basic fact in mind, the question must arise, however, over the justification for Justice Minister Ilsley's announcement that he has decided nothing can be done at the current session to ban lurid crime comics from Canada. It is not suggested that such action would be taken without difficulty. Nor would it relieve the parent or teacher of the responsibility of guiding children's reading along more valuable channels. At the same time, in view of the virtually unanimous condemnation of crime comics expressed by groups which concern themselves with the mental health of the younger generation, some regulation seems in order.

Other amendments to the Criminal Code adopted after debate in Parliament yesterday reflect an appreciation of the need for changes in the law to meet the times. And while invasion of the right of freedom of information should not be tolerated in this country, some control seems legitimate over the lurid sensationalism of some cheap publications the circulation of which is detrimental to the young people.

CONTRIBUTION TO CANADA

IN A DAY WHEN EVERY EFFORT TO prevent the loss of foodstuffs is a matter for serious study by all peoples, the tremendous strides made by science in avoiding the destruction of wheat through rust assumes particular significance. In former years, wide acres, apparently promising an abundant harvest, have been rendered valueless by this scourge. By careful study, by the application of acquired skills, painstaking fieldwork and patient research, scientists have been able to reduce this toll through the development of rust-resistant varieties. As a result, farmers have been given a safeguard against crippling losses, and more has been provided to reduce the ranks of the hungry.

At this time, therefore, it is particularly appropriate that one of Victoria's citizens, Dr. Margaret Newton, should be honored for her achievements in the scientific battle against rust. Her distinction last night, as she became the first woman to receive the Flavelle Medal, marks fitting recognition of a great contribution to Canadian agriculture. This award, made by the Royal Society of Canada, places her name in that select company which includes those of Sir Charles E. Saunders, A. H. R. Buller, Sir Frederick Banting, Dr. J. S. Plaskett, Dr. J. B. Collip, and Dr. J. H. Craigie. It is a cause for pride that Victoria should be graced by her residence.

GAS TO PUT OUT THE FIRE

IT IS A MATTER OF SOME CONCERN and anxiety to observers of the international scene—and particularly those who watch the panorama of world events from seats in Washington—that Anglo-American relationships seem to have struck a temporary rough spot. The closing of the relatively small breaches which have occurred between the two English-speaking peoples is rightly regarded as essential if the hopes for democratic victory, as such is seen on this continent, are to be achieved. It is unusual, however, to read such a statement as that given prominence in the June 5 issue of The Saturday Evening Post under the authorship of Werner Knop.

Entitled "Why do the British dislike us?" the article sets forth the writer's opinions on the causes of the present rift and outlines his prescription to overcome it. Mr. Knop, however, seems to suggest that all the correction is needed in Britain. It is natural that he should write in a strain pleasing to his own people—or some of them. After all, he is a contributor to one of our neighbor's most widely-circulated weeklies. But we wonder if his efforts, presumably aimed at quenching the flames of animosity, are not, in effect, seeking to douse the fire with gasoline.

The author writes, for instance, of the bewilderment of Americans reaching Britain and encountering an atmosphere of anti-American resentment. "They remember," he says, "the help their country gave to England. . . ." And at another point, "Under Socialist rule, the country has had two and a half years to get back on its feet and extend a helping hand to a less fortunate Europe. It has done neither." And again, "Where wealth was once accumulated through the enterprise and pioneering of British merchants, charity is now solicited from the United States, Canada, Australia, South Africa and others, including Ethiopia." And here are two more excerpts: "Of the major European contestants (in the last war), it had suffered least. It had escaped invasion. Loss of life and damage from the air had been relatively small," and "the loan was meant to pay for the re-equipment of British industry, the building up of stocks of raw materials, and to prime the pump of a great economic effort. Instead, American dollars have served to give Britain, temporarily, a higher standard of living than necessary or than was justified by comparison with the privations of other nations."

These are extracts from the content of an article which inferentially at least suggests to Britons how they should run their affairs and to invite the gratitude of a people who apparently, in the author's opinion should be overflowing with thanks to a beneficent United States. It makes no mention of the part Britain played in preventing Hitler from over-running Europe and marking the United States as his definite target. It disregards a national diet which is nauseatingly dull and is relieved chiefly by private shipments of parcels from more fortunate lands. It ignores the right of the Englishman to run his own affairs under a Labor government which has created a sensational record for by-election victories. And the general tenor of the article might well supply the answer to the question it has posed.

No one, of course, questions the generosity of the United States—a generosity, incidentally, not without potential benefits to the giver. But it might be wise for Mr. Knop to consider the issue from the other side.

FOR ONE YEAR ONLY

ALTHOUGH OUR NEIGHBOR'S RECIPROCAL Trade Agreements Act expired on June 13, the large mass of legislation still remaining to be dealt with by the Senate on Capitol Hill had precluded the treaty-making body from taking action until yesterday. The result of its deliberations was an endorsement of the House of Representatives' decision, taken two weeks ago, to renew this measure for one year only, instead of the three years for which Mr. Truman asked. Whether the President, so soon before the Republican nominating convention in Philadelphia on June 21 will feel like vetoing the action of Congress in this matter must remain a matter for speculation at the moment. He may, of course, consider the amendments included in the new Republican-sponsored bill as sufficiently moderate for the time being.

As we have already noted in these columns on several occasions recently, this is the international trading arrangement which former Secretary of State Cordell Hull fathered on behalf of the Roosevelt administration in 1934, its object then, as now, being the expansion of his own country's import and export business, and the general return to a sane and profitable process of a freer exchange of goods between nation and nation. Nor is it necessary at this stage of world affairs to suggest again that tariff wars invariably lead to fighting wars. History is replete with proof of this truism.

MULTIPLE CAREER

THE RETURN OF HELEN GAHAGAN Douglas, the Democratic Congresswoman representing the 14th District, Los Angeles County, seems to be assured on the basis of returns in the California primary. She captured renomination on the Democratic ticket by an overwhelming majority, and then ran up a sizeable total indicating that she was also first choice on the Republican ticket. This, not an unusual occurrence under the American political system, ensures that this capable woman will have no major opposition in the voting next November.

As a stage star and opera singer Helen Gahagan enjoyed a successful career that would have left many women well satisfied with life. But for her it was not enough. Her marriage to the well-known actor, Melvyn Douglas, gave her new fields in which to show achievement as wife and mother. And to these she has added further laurels as California State representative on a number of boards, alternate delegate to the United Nations Assembly, and, since 1944, as a member of Congress. As an outstanding example of American womanhood in action, her further career will be watched with interest.

NUMERICAL INDIGNITY

THERE IS SOMETHING INEVITABLY repugnant about the reported plan of the State of Ohio to number all babies born there after Jan. 1 next year. Admittedly there are many arguments in favor of such registration, relating to identification in later life, ease in keeping records, and so on. But the automatic conferring of a number on each new-born child, even before it has been given a name, seems to be the ultimate in anonymity in a mechanical world. As though the difficulties and dangers of lifelong subjection to the pressures of group conformity, mediocrity and standardization were not enough, the individual must begin existence with the indignity of a number, like any household gadget emerging from the mass production line that symbolizes 20th Century culture. Call him Tom or Joe or even Alphonse, but let us save him from the debasement of numerical tabulation.

Walter Lippmann

AMERICAN EXPECTATIONS

"UNTIL THEN I beg of you," said Senator Vandenberg, "that you give E.C.A. (Economic Co-operation Administration) a fair chance." Until when? Until "next January, when we shall know whereof we speak. When the second annual appropriation impends, we shall know what kind of job Administrator Hoffman and his staff are doing. We shall know to what extent self-help and mutual co-operation are meeting our expectations."

Though these words were part of Senator Vandenberg's appeal to Congress to honor a solemn commitment, they carry with them an urgent warning to the leading governments of Europe and also to the President and the Department of State.

IT IS A WARNING that the continuation of E.C.A. is not assured by the original authorization, nor will it be if the Martin-Taber raid is repulsed. It is notice that "a general overhaul," as Mr. Vandenberg put it—that is to say a general reconsideration of the basic policy—will be undertaken by the next Administration and the next Congress. It will be undertaken not merely by the enemies of E.C.A. but by its strongest supporters—who will then "know to what extent self-help and mutual co-operation are meeting our expectations."

No doubt six months—for that is what it comes to—will seem like an exceedingly short time in which to prove that E.C.A. should be continued. But if the European governments, and particularly the British and French, make a serious effort to understand the real attitude of the United States, they will know what kind of action on their part will in fact meet American "expectations."

THEY WILL FIND, I believe, that the key to the mystery is that while the European Recovery Program has been "justified" by a torrent of statistics, in fact this extraordinary enterprise, unique in the history of the world, will have to be justified by intangible, uneconomic, political and moral results. The American people hope, of course, that production will rise, that trade will increase, that inflation will be mastered, and that the balance of payments will be righted. But what they are really looking for are signs which they can take seriously that a new Europe is in the making.

It is because signs of that kind are lacking that even the first appropriation for E.C.A. is in danger. For the Martin-Taber attack reflected not so much the strength of the opposition to the recovery program as it did the lack of strong conviction on the part of its supporters. They were absent from the House in large numbers, and those who were present did not fight very effectively. Why? Because, so it seems to me, the governments in Europe and the State Department here have deflated the hopes of the people.

IN THE PAST FEW MONTHS they have seen "Western Union" degenerate into little more than an impotent military alliance. They have seen the United Nations maltreated. They have seen the Labor government cold-shoulder the movement for European union. They have seen their own government invite the Russians to talk, and then unable to think of anything to say.

As a result, if they have not become isolationist, they are certainly disillusioned at the prospect of huge subsidies, huge armaments, and the draft, all at the expense of housing, health, education and internal development, with no progress toward a new and better international order.

THE FAILURE of the European governments and of the State Department to promote the political unity of Europe and to uphold the authority of the United Nations has sapped the only foundation on which sustained American support of the recovery program could rest. No doubt it required high statesmanship to put the program on a constructive foundation. It was much easier to put it across as a measure of the cold war, to depend on the fear of communism rather than on faith in a new democratic order.

But fear will not sustain a continuing effort. It will work for a few emergencies but not for four years. It is good for a sprint but not for a long run. The Russians, once they are bright enough to realize that the United States is depending on their provocations to generate the steam to carry on, have only to stop being quite so irritating in order to reduce the pressure. Then, no longer frightened but without a sustaining faith in place of their fears, the people's interest languishes. It is languishing now. That is where Martin and Taber saw their opportunity.

THESE ARE the imponderables, I think, which men like Attlee, Cripps and Bevin, Schumann, Rene Mayer and Bidault will do well to take very seriously if—six months hence when the E.C.A. must undergo a more crucial test than the Martin-Taber affair—they intend to meet what Senator Vandenberg called American "expectations" about the extent of self-help and mutual co-operation in Europe.

It will not be good enough for them to complain about the uncertainty of American public opinion. If they are fair about it, and also wise, they will recognize that what the American public is being asked to do is something which no people has ever before been asked to do, and that, therefore, this altogether unprecedented enterprise can be sustained only if they contribute to it not merely sweat and austerity but also audacity and faith.

Perhaps The Parade Can Get Started Now

Working Toward Stability

By J. PAUL-BONCOUR

THREE EVENTS OF prime importance have recently taken place.

The Sixteen Nations have signed a treaty which more or less constitutes a charter of European economic co-operation: To unite the economic resources of the countries which accept, not solicit, the application of the Marshall Plan; to develop their industrial and agricultural equipment, increase production and gradually reduce barriers to trade by means of customs unions; to insure full employment; to achieve economic and financial stability and, if possible combine the various economies and national currencies.

The preamble, setting forth the treaty's principles, expresses all these aims. And the mere enumeration is not all. The treaty contains a pledge to observe, even beyond the scope of the American plan, certain rules of economic, commercial, financial, and social policy which will strengthen co-operation among the countries concerned.

POSITIVE PLAN

In addition, the treaty provides a positive plan for the carrying out of the principles it proclaims.

A council, made up of representatives of all the interested states, will make all decisions.

A special committee is to be set up, composed of seven members named each year by the council, which will also appoint a general secretary and two assistant secretaries.

Nothing has been omitted, not even the suppression of that absurd right of veto, which weighs so heavily on the United Nations. Decisions are to be made by mutual agreement but when a member does not vote on a question, his abstention will not be an obstacle to a decision. This upholds what has always been my contention—that narrower regional agreements can correct the harm done to the general world organization by the veto, that veto that they no longer know how to eliminate from the United Nations' Charter now that the stone has been rolled over the sepulchre and the right of veto applies even to revision of the Charter itself.

Mr. Bidault was right when he said: "Our action is the first step in the organization of Europe." He added: "It is a long way to the final goal."

LONG, BUT GOOD ROAD

Yes, it's a long way to Tipperary, as the English Tommies used to sing in the other war. But we have chosen a good road. It should lead us to European federation, which is certainly the "final goal" envisaged by our minister of foreign affairs, advocated by Mr. Churchill, and recently taken up by the Socialists at their international congress.

The second event was putting into operation of the Brussels Five Power Pact, previously concluded, which remains open to any of the Sixteen Nations who wish to join, and which goes to the heart of the problem: security. When they met in Paris on April 17, the foreign ministers of the five signatory powers declared that security problems are their normal concern and that they will meet in London whenever it is necessary and at least once every three months in one of the capitals of the signing powers, chosen in turn.

And, as at the U.N., but more effectively, a Military Staffs Committee has been set up to study security questions under the authority of the permanent council composed of the five foreign ministers. That security would mean nothing if, as Mr. Spaak, the plain speaker, said, it were not backed up by the military weight of the United States.

Thus the close political co-operation provided by the Brussels Pact and the military co-operation reinforcing it give the five power association its real character and make it a treaty of mutual aid to serve the security of western Europe.

Let us only hope it will be extended to more than the Five, that the Scandinavian countries will abandon their illusory neutrality, and that Italy, having recovered from the throes of her election, will soon join.

LET ITALY IN

This brings up the third important event: the Italian elections. They brought defeat for the Communists and success for the Christian Democrats. But the latter should not yield to the temptation to govern alone. They should remember that Mr. Saragat's party made considerable gains, especially in the industrial cities of the north where political education is more highly developed than in the other parts of Italy. They should consider the fact that any government which does not include the Socialists will naturally appear conservative in the eyes of working classes and give rise to Communist propaganda. A Gasperi-Saragat coalition would be best for Italy.

And let us hope we shall not see repeated with that government the mistake made with the Weimar Republic. People were uncompromising, suspicious and sullen, and they ended up by giving Hitler what they had refused to give the republic. Mr. Bidault has done a great deal to achieve Franco-Italian understanding. This is the time to carry it through. But first of all let Italy join the Five Power Pact.

'Bee Rustlers'—A New Menace

Sydney Morning Herald

THE cattle rustler is already a historic figure—virtually extinct. Not so the bee rustler, whose low-minded if high-speed activities are the bane of the honest apiarist.

There was, perhaps, a faint glamor about cattle-rustling, and although that cannot be said for bee-rustling, the latter certainly brings its financial rewards and has the attraction of being a relatively safe occupation.

DISAPPEARED

Some months ago, a thousand colonies, each the home of from 30,000 to 70,000 bees, disappeared mysteriously from an apiary near Nowra, on the southwest coast of New South Wales.

About the same time, an apiarist left his colonies in charge of a farmer at Bargo and continued on his never ending search for blossoms and pollen. Some weeks after his departure a large truck was driven to his farm house. The driver claimed that he had come to collect the hives.

Assuming that he had been sent by the apiarist, the farmer helped to load the hives on to the truck. They were driven away to take their place with the many thousands of other hives "reported missing."

The buzz of angry apiarists could be heard above the noise of their charges. And while the news of this important robbery was still hot, another large-scale theft was reported at Harden.

RUSTLING EPIDEMIC

The Commercial Apiarists' Association expressed grave concern and offered £50 for information leading to the arrest of a bee-stealer. The Department of Agriculture instructed its men to make as many inquiries as possible.

Then a rustling epidemic occurred on the far south coast of New South Wales. This time the rustlers devised new and improved methods of operation.

Their racket works this way: The migratory apiarist, by nature an honest and trusting soul, leaves his hives for pollination where the blooms are big and pollen plentiful, and continues his wanderings about New South Wales.

Then it is that the bee-rustler comes upon the scene armed with a number of empty hive frames. He substitutes these for the frames which are loaded with bees and brood, and retires to his own illegal—or even legal—apiary. He has made certain that the queen bee is left in his unsuspecting victim's hive.

When the brood hatches and the rustler has added a large number of bees to his collection, he takes the empty stolen frames back to their original hives.

PERFECT CRIME

The queen bee has been busily laying her 3,000 eggs a day and he finds that his own frames are covered with bees and brood. So he steals his own frames and leaves those belonging to the apiarist in their original positions! The hives have apparently not been disturbed. The boxes are intact and the owner's brand is on every part.

You might describe this as the perfect crime.

Global Survey

(For DeWitt Mackenzie)

SOUTHERN ASIA'S first Socialist state, Burma, may be going Communist.

That, at least, is indicated by an unconfirmed report from Rangoon, where Premier Thakin Nu is quoted as saying that Burma would "follow Russia" and that foreign property would be nationalized, probably with compensation.

This report, although unconfirmed, is viewed with "grave concern" in London, where the stocks of British companies operating in Burma have dropped sharply in value.

Its possible importance, however, far transcends the London stock market.

Burma is an Asiatic weather vane, having chosen full independence instead of dominion status. It became free—and troubled with the problems of freedom—last January.

TROUBLES

The destruction of the war has not been rebuilt. There is inflation, shortages, discontent.

Oil fields will not be back into full production for two years. It will take an estimated 10 years to restore the teakwood industry. Rice exports are about one-third their prewar volume.

Lawlessness prevails in the interior, where dissident elements have guns picked up during the war. With one hand the government has been trying to stall off the independence demands of racial minorities like the Karens (who want a separate state on the great, fertile Irrawaddy delta) and with the other it has been fighting Communist uprisings. The Communist leader has a price on his head.

This is why it is difficult to accept at full face the report that Premier Thakin Nu threatens to lead his country into communism.

He may have done so, but it seems more likely he is trying to build up bargaining power against Britain for the impending argument over nationalizing industry, as British property will come under this program.

PLAY EITHER SIDE

Burmese are among millions of Asiatics, making up about half of humanity, who are keenly aware that there is a fight on between communism and capitalistic democracy in the west. They are hardly sold on either, but want to be on the winning side eventually, and until that is decided are interested chiefly in playing either or both sides for what they can get.

In many cases they seem less critical of the untried imperialism of Russian communism than they are of the capitalistic imperialism of western Europe, with which they have had plenty of intimate experience.

The point is that the hotter the cold war grows in the west, the higher will be the bargaining power of Asiatic countries like Burma.

Maybe a second front in the cold war has not yet been opened up in Asia, but Russia could hardly hope to find a better beachhead than democracy's most discontented flank.

CANOEING CANADA

Winnipeg Free Press

We have learned something about canoes in Canada and, as any small Canadian boy knows, the canoe should be paddled from a kneeling position if it is to be safe, and so it was always paddled along the rivers of our history. Now the Olympic authorities tell the paddler to sit in a seat, which is a sissy arrangement and dangerous at worst—this after several generations of Canadians have been trying to teach children to poise their centre of gravity as low as possible. Before making any more rules maybe the Olympic committee should consult Canadians who, you might say, have built a nation by the art of the paddle.

Letter To The Editor

WHAT BENEFIT?

Can you explain just who will get the benefit from the advanced price of milk, as printed in the Times. It is not the harassed housewife. It is certainly not the storekeeper. The latter takes the milk in in the morning, keeps it in the cooler through the day, pays for electricity and repairs (no small item), and sells it to his customer in the evening all for the princely profit of one cent!

Reserve Army Is Backbone Of Field Force If War Comes

The Canadian Army Reserve Force is regarded as the backbone of Canada's field force in the event of war. For this reason there are now 211 Active Force officers and 958 warrant officers and N.C.O.'s living and working the year round with reserve units.

Busy all winter on administration and training, the "A and T" staffs now start their big job as the reserve units move into corps and command camps across Canada for field training.

The instructors go to camp ahead of the units so as to be ready to brush up veterans and train young soldiers when the units arrive.

Each member of the "A and T" staff is an expert in his own line and is kept up to date by frequent training with Active Force units and schools.

The intimate relationship between the Active and Reserve Army—it's all one army now—is exemplified by this system. Prior to the war there was only a handful of Reserve Force instructors known as the Instructional Cadre, who inspected rather than trained.

The variety of modern equipment now available for training the reserve marks another vast difference between the prewar and the postwar systems.

Ottawa Seeks Aid From Deceased Servicemen's Kin

Very few replies resulted from a recent armed forces request that names of Canadians who died in any British or allied force other than Canadian be submitted to military authorities without delay, it was learned in Ottawa this week.

Some time ago next-of-kin of the deceased were asked to submit the names to ensure inclusion in the Second World War Book.

Army headquarters reports to date the response has been very poor so far as army is concerned.

Although names of those who died as members of the Canadian armed forces will be taken by the authorities out of the records on file at Ottawa, complete information is not available of those who died in such forces as the Royal Navy, the Royal Air Force and forces of other Commonwealth and allied countries.

Next-of-kin were asked to supply full particulars of such deceased to the Chairman of the Inter-Service Records Committee, Department of National Defence, Ottawa, not later than June 15, 1948.

13 Reserve Army On Bisley Team

Seven officers and six other ranks of the Canadian Army Reserve Force and Supplementary Reserve who have been selected as members of the Canadian Bisley Team 1948, are being called out on "active service" so that they can attend the English shooting classic.

The call-up period will date from June 20 to Aug. 10. During that time they will be paid active force rates of pay but will not receive subsistence, ration or quarters allowance. If married they will draw dependent's allowance on a par with similar allowances granted members of the active force.

Tireless Energy, Fighting Spirit Of Men And Women Defeating Fraser Flood

By R. A. V. JENKINS

Anyone who has lost his faith in human nature need only make a trip into the flooded Fraser River Valley to find it again. There he will find courage, unselfishness and human energy which it would seem impossible to sustain over any length of time.

And yet, for more than two weeks, valley residents, sailors and soldiers have been laboring endlessly to fight the threatening waters of the swollen river and to save whatever possible where the floods have broken through to ravage homes and rich farmlands.

I was fortunate enough to make several trips up to the flooded area from H.M.C.S. Antigonish, secured at New Westminster as the headquarters ship for navy operations in the valley.

One journey took me to the Deroche area where I saw water-smothered Nicomen Island and other flooded land up to a point just below Harrison Mills and across from Agassiz.

There members of the permanent Navy and active reserve have worked tirelessly, often without relief for a week and longer, first aiding the farmers to save their livestock from the flood and later to carry milk for them to temporary railheads and bring food and supplies back to the stranded residents.

WORKED DAY AND NIGHT

The boat crews which rode up and down the river day after day worked many long hours. Some were getting as little as four hours sleep in a night and, at times, during the height of the disaster, even going without sleep for several days.

There were more instances of it in other places. In one area there were several officers who went four days and five nights without sleep in order to bring the farmers and their livestock to safety from the flood.

There was nothing too big or too small for the sailors to attempt in their rescue work. Cows were loaded aboard landing barges and small outboard motorboats cruised around farmyards rescuing cats and chickens. They even turned their hand to milking and forking hay.

Parties of farmers organized themselves to row down along the heights of land to milk cattle which were not yet corralled in with the larger groups of bovine evacuees.

Nor was the army to be left out of it. At Mission, below Deroche, Dewdney and Hatzic, the army and navy worked well in joint operations. Army transport scurried back and forth with supplies, soldiers were to be found along many stretches of isolated roads, guiding people around, and guarding the flooded areas. Army "ducks" were cruising over the flooded farmlands and roadways, always ready to lend a hand where needed.

MANY ORGANIZATIONS HELP

Red Cross workers were always present to help evacuees, give them cigarettes, find beds for them to sleep in, give dry clothing. Other organizations such as the Canadian Legion, Orangemen, Oddfellows and many another came forward with all the aid they could give. Club rooms and halls were thrown open to feed and sleep evacuees, sailors, soldiers and dike workers. Some places had hot meals ready to serve 24 hours a day and the cooks and waitresses were mothers, grandmothers and schoolgirls.

Elsewhere the story was much the same.

At the Vedder Canal dikes, Mennonite farmers, soldiers and sailors worked together day and night to get more and more sandbags filled and delivered along the threatened bulwarks. Many of the farmers tended their farms in the daytime and went to the dikes to work at night. Landing barges and navy cutters were running 24 hours a day, back and forth along the canal either laden with filled sandbags or hurrying back for a fresh load.

Always, if you were hungry, there was a place to go where food was supplied. If you were tired, there was usually some place or other to rest, but few found much time for this luxury. At Chilliwack, where residents, farmers and troops had strengthened and built dikes until the city was practically encircled, there was an endles string of trucks bumping and grinding along the wide dike tops with more sandbags and more gravel for the fight against the Fraser. Officer cadets from the nearby engineers' camp were found in squads along the dikes earnestly shoveling strength into the lines of land which held back the flood.

Everywhere in the flood areas were civilian volunteer dike workers from New Westminster and Vancouver. Many were the stories of unselfishness and generosity involved, but one I liked in particular concerned the men from a Vancouver steel mill. Some time ago, their employer had laid off about half his employees because of the steel shortage. When the Fraser flooded, he called them all back to work. Then he said, "O.K., you're all back on the payroll; now go on out and work on the dikes."

Small tugs and large tugs forgot about business and joined in with the navy's fleet of small craft. They, too, put in the long, fatiguing hours, and many of their skippers proved of incalculable value with their knowledge of the river and its shoals and danger points.

But it wasn't only on the dikes and on the flood waters that one saw this tireless energy and devotion to the aid of others. The same spirit existed in the headquarters of the civilian, naval and military organization. Aboard the frigate Antigonish, sleep was at just as high a premium as anxious men watched the map of the flood, received the messages from the outlying posts and answered the deluge of telephone calls which poured in at all times of the day and night.

A lull would come, but no one could really rest as there was no guarantee as to its length. It might go for half a day, it might last half an hour. And even then, there was the endless planning and organization to keep the craft moving, the crews supplied and the needs of valley residents cared for.

As soon as one problem was coped with, another would arise. Boats had to be refueled. Crews had to be relieved, if possible. Supplies had to be secured and put aboard. Coxwains had to be briefed on the river's dangers and on the best routes to where the craft were needed.

Something would wear out under the stress of the work and repairs would have to be made as quickly as possible. About the only things that weren't giving out under the strain were the men and women who worked to save what could be saved from the disaster. Why not? The man who has faith in human nature can probably answer that.

Burma To Develop Natural Resources

RANGOON (Reuter) — Maximum development of Burma's resources during the first two years of her independence is the aim of two-year economic development plans just announced here.

The plan aims at laying the foundation of a planned economy which would transform Burma into a country "where the welfare of the common man constitutes the main motive of state activity."

The plan, approved by the government, deals with future development under four main headings: agriculture, forests, industries and labor.

Admitting the world-wide shortage of materials and technical personnel, it emphasizes the need for "immediate action" with such material and resources as are at present available.

Referring to industrial development, the plan states:

"The profit motive and other considerations which usually govern industries in capitalist economy shall not be allowed to determine the development of basic industries in independent Burma."

Consumer goods industries may be developed by private enterprise insofar as such development is compatible with the government's policy of state socialism.

Gyro Drive Started

Advance subscriptions to the Gyro Club's hole-in-one contest, which will be held July 7 to 10 at Central Junior High School, total $808.50, Ken Davis, joint chairman of the contest with Neil Grant, informed club members at their meeting Monday.

Objective of the contest has been set at $12,000. Last year $8,056 was raised.

Proceeds of the contest will be used for the construction of nurses' cottages at the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children, Mill Bay.

A brief review of a recent trip to eastern Canada by Jack Chesman, club member, concluded the meeting.

Britain Planning Self-Government For Sudan Colony

LONDON (Reuter) — The Sudan is to have an executive council and an elected Legislative Assembly, pending full self-government, despite failure of the Cairo talks to give Egypt a part in administration, the government declared Monday.

Christopher Mayhew, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the Commons Britain has agreed that an ordinance for setting up the council and assembly shall be issued by the Governor-General of the Sudan, Sir Hugh Dow.

It followed an announcement Monday by the Sudan government of amendments to the draft plan rejected June 4 by the Egyptian Senate Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mayhew said that in view of Egypt's failure to reply to British proposals for associating her with the plan, Britain felt she could no longer stand in the way of the Governor-General's "fulfilling his obligations for good government in the Sudan."

SERVING CANADIANS C-I-L THROUGH CHEMISTRY

"Chemistry?... I DON'T HANDLE IT!"

YOUR STOREKEEPER may think he doesn't handle chemistry, but everything he sells from costume jewelry to refrigerators, is in whole or in part, a chemical product.

Chemistry is a vital factor in fabrics and foods, leather and toys. It's at the cosmetic counter and in the hardware department. You find it more and more whenever you shop—as nylon hosiery, fabrics and bristles, in new plastic articles and as "Cellophane" wrappings to protect goods and make them more attractive.

The chemical industry never stands still. It continues to create new useful products and to improve many old ones. It contributes to the well-being of all of us ... with the C-I-L oval the symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

For instance...

Cattle Exports To U.S. Not Yet Being Negotiated

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiations with the United States to resume Canadian cattle exports have not yet begun, Canadian and American officials say.

Although there has been some communication between the two countries on cattle shipments, neither side was prepared to say when actual negotiations might start.

Other sources disclosed Monday that the question of removing the embargo which has prevented exports of Canadian cattle to the U.S. market since early in the war is still being discussed by members of the cabinet. Some government members are opposed to any action which would increase the present sharp rise in beef prices.

Removal of the embargo would lead to higher prices, it is said, and would probably offset the decline that will normally occur next month when the heavy summer marketing of cattle starts.

Choice live steers were selling in Winnipeg last Friday for $23 a hundredweight. The agriculture department gave the comparable price in Chicago as $34.50.

Even with removal of the embargo Canadian prices would not quite reach the American level. The United States duty of $1.50 a hundredweight and greater freight charges involved in delivery to Chicago would cause a differential in the two countries' prices.

The United States is willing to admit 400,000 cattle at a reduced duty of $1.50 a hundredweight. When that quota is exhausted the duty rises to $2.50.

Cornwall Asks Ottawa Put End To Clashes Of Seamen

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — A five-hour emergency session of the Cornwall city council ended early today and decision was made to appeal to the federal government to help avoid further violence between the two rival seamen's unions here.

The decision concerns a week-long dispute of the Canadian Seamen's Union with five Great Lakes shipping companies and the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, which has resulted in several near riots, serious injury to two seamen and the arrest of five C.S.U. members.

The council expressed regret that Cornwall should be the scene of union warfare and said it would approach Labor Minister Mitchell and Transport Minister Chevrier at the earliest opportunity.

Five C.S.U. men are in the Cornwall jail facing a range of charges from kidnapping to assault and forcibly retaining.

Police said they were looking for two other C.S.U. men, one of whom will face 10 charges ranging from assault to forcibly retaining.

One of those held is Eugene Bellfontaine, a C.S.U. organizer arrested Monday on a charge of forcibly seizing and retaining Marcel Laporte, a member of the C.L.S.U., who was severely beaten in the flare-up between the two rival unions at the week-end.

Laporte appeared in court to lodge the charge against Bellefontaine. His face was badly cut and one eye bruised.

MOTORIST FINED

William G. Kyle, 2661 West 21st Avenue, Vancouver, pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving on the Island Highway June 11 and was fined $25 and $2.50 costs by A. I. Thomas in Provincial Police court Monday afternoon. Court action came from accused's dangerous driving methods while police were investigating an accident.

Indefinite Sentences Provided For Sex Maniacs In Code Change

OTTAWA (CP) — Crime—violent, lurid and petty—occupied the Commons Monday.

It came before the chamber in the form of more than 40 amendments to the Criminal Code, Code, adopted after lengthy consideration.

Here are some of the major changes:

1. Criminal sexual psychopaths—commonly known as sex maniacs—now may be sent to penitentiary for an indefinite period—for life if necessary—after conviction of a sex crime.

2. Infanticide—the killing of a child after birth, especially by a mentally-deranged mother—now will be punishable by up to three years' imprisonment. At present, the parent can be charged only with murder or manslaughter.

3. It now will be an offence to intimidate any person by threats of injury or violence to any of his relatives either in Canada or abroad. This would cover cases where Communists were reported to have made such threats against those who declined to contribute to Communist funds.

4. Jury trials now may continue, contingent on the consent of both the crown and the accused, even if one or two jurors become ill. This is similar to a change made in the United Kingdom.

The amendments dealing with criminal sexual psychopathics provide that once the person has been convicted, the court may call on two psychiatrists to examine the accused and give evidence on his sexual behavior. If the court is satisfied the accused is a criminal sex pervert it can sentence him to a minimum of two years' imprisonment and to an "indeterminate period" thereafter.

CHANGES MADE IN HOUSE

A change was made in the amendment at the request of John Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, a Saskatchewan lawyer.

Originally the amendment provided that a court hearing on the sexual behavior of an accused could not be held without the consent of the provincial Attorney-General.

Mr. Diefenbaker felt it unnecessary to obtain such consent. After consideration, Justice Minister Ilsley agreed and made the necessary change.

Mr. Diefenbaker also won approval of another change. It was in a clause which described a criminal sexual psychopath as a "person who by a course of misconduct in sexual matters has evidenced a lack of power to control his sexual impulses and who as a result is likely to attack or otherwise inflict injury, loss, pain or other evil on the object of his uncontrollable desires."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the last seven words made the clause restrictive. Mr. Ilsley deleted them and substituted simply "evil on any person."

Mr. Ilsley said the provision dealing with sex offenders was somewhat similar to that which was made applicable last session to habitual criminals.

He said Canada now lacks facilities for the treatment of such criminals, but he felt legislation to deal with the criminals had to precede establishment of the facilities.

A. L. Smith, P.C., Calgary West, said the accused in the case should have an opportunity along with the Crown to bring evidence of his sex behavior before the courts. Mr. Ilsley said that was the aim of the amendment.

DEATH PENALTY DEBATED

Piloting the Criminal Code amendments, Mr. Ilsley said the government was watching the trend towards modification of capital punishment in Britain, but did not plan to propose any change in the death penalty as applied to murder in this country.

Mr. Diefenbaker suggested the justice department seek to determine the value of capital punishment as a deterrent, but Mr. Ilsley said he did not think it possible to come to any definite conclusion.

Besides the Criminal Code bill, the Commons considered a half dozen other pieces of legislation as the drive for prorogation by June 30 gained momentum.

Finance Minister Abbott reiterated that the government does not intend to return to a system of over-all price and wage controls to meet the high cost of living.

Trade Minister Howe said he hoped to make an announcement shortly on payment to farmers who lost money on coarse grain sales when the price ceilings were lifted last fall.

The House resumed study of health department estimates and heard Health Minister Martin say he was considering what could be done to prevent those suffering from incurable diseases from being thrown on public charity.

Claims Sentences On Strikers Too Harsh

TORONTO (CP) — Dave Archer, secretary of the Toronto Labor Council, Monday night charged judges and magistrates in Ontario courts with being biased against labor, handing down heavy jail sentences for convictions in labor disputes.

The charge came during a council discussion of the United Electrical Workers' (C.I.O.) strike at the Rogers Majestic plant at surburban Leaside that has resulted in jail sentences for five pickets. One picket was sentenced to two months in jail and four others to one month on charges of watching and besetting. There was no alternative of fine.

Archer declared that in most cases of first offenders there was either a suspended sentence or a fine.

He said the process of the courts and the Department of Justice has been directed against strikers as shown in the Canadian Seamen's Union strike.

William Palmer, 83, Laid To Rest Today

V. C. William Palmer, for many years a captain in the Victoria Fire Department and one of the originals of the Victoria Volunteer Fire Department, who died at Royal Jubilee Hospital Saturday at the age of 83, was buried from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel this afternoon.

A native of Victoria, the son of the late Professor and Mrs. Digby Palmer, Mr. Palmer lived in Victoria all his life.

He is survived by a stepson, R. V. Casellon, 1334 Burleith Crescent with whom he resided. Two grandchildren also survive.

Interment was in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Robinson's Move To New Premises On Thursday

Robinson's Ltd., pioneer bicycle and sporting goods store, opens Thursday in its new premises, 1307-11 Broad Street. The new modern store will occupy an area of 6,000 square feet, as compared with the present 1,000 square-foot location. The new main store has a 28-foot front, widening to 36 feet behind. Fourteen fluorescent lighting units will assure daylight brilliance at all times and modern blower air condition units will assure even temperature.

Canadian and English bicycles, tricycles and wagon displays will run the full length of the store, while other merchandise will be prominently displayed in modern fixtures, designed to give quick service.

The exterior of the new building is smartly finished with stucco and vitrolite, a large marquee extending across the whole front.

A spacious workshop and ample storage space will fill a much-needed requirement.

A large rental fleet of modern baby carriages and kiddies' strollers will be conveniently housed. The renting of carriages by Robinson's is an innovation which has filled a long-felt want in this city.

George W. Robinson has been associated with the bicycle business here since 1918, formerly manager and president of Plimley & Ritchie, Mr. Robinson established the present business, Robinson's Ltd., in 1929.

Vows Exchanged At Garden Rites

In the garden of her home at 630 Foul Bay Road at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Belle Dixson exchanged marriage vows with Robert Ferguson, formerly of Toronto.

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse officiated at the ceremony, at which Mrs. Edith Gibson played traditional wedding music, and the groom's sister, Miss Anne Ferguson sang "I Love You Truly." The bride was given in marriage by Arthur Dodds, and was attended by Mrs. Dodds.

She chose for her wedding a suit of brown gabardine with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of red roses.

Arthur Howell was best man for the groom.

Receiving the 50 guests at the garden reception following the ceremony were the groom's two sisters, Mrs. E. K. Boyd and Miss Ann Ferguson. Roses and pink tapers decorated the bride's table as the couple cut the cake with traditional ceremony.

For their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have chosen a motor trip to California, following which they will return to make their home at the Town and Country Club, Foul Bay Road.

En Route To Massachusetts

Miss Gwynneth Griffith, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Wynn Griffith, Dennison Road, left last night for Vancouver en route to Swamscott, Mass., where, as a delegate of Alpha Phi Chapter, she will attend diamond jubilee celebrations of Delta Gamma International Fraternity. The convention will meet at New Ocean House June 23 to 28, and will be attended by members of the fraternity from all over the United States and Canada. Accompanying Miss Griffith, who is president of the University of British Columbia Chapter, is Miss Jean Hopkins, daughter of Mrs. E. Hopkins, Armstrong Road. They plan to return to Victoria July 5.

Gown Of White Lace Chosen By Agnes Campbell Richards

An afternoon-length gown of white lace was chosen by Agnes Campbell Richards for the vestry wedding in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday evening at which she became the bride of Robin Wilfred Long.

The distinctive gown featured a peplum of matching lace which extended into a fishtail back to the hemline of the straight skirt. Short sleeves were complemented by long white gloves, and she wore a single strand of pearls at the high round neckline.

Her white straw hat was finished with veil and ribbon trim of navy, and an orchid en corsage completed her ensemble.

For her bridesmaid role Miss Muriel Eastwood wore a white crepe dress and small white hat trimmed with a white flower and short veil. Her white corsage was centred with a gardenia.

Warren (Buz) Long was best man for his brother.

Dr. J. R. Johns officiated at the nuptials of the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richards, and the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Long, Jutland Street.

Later in the evening a reception was held at the Prior Street home of the bride's parents, where guests were received by Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Long Sr. James Wilmshurst proposed the toast to the bride.

Topping the three-tier wedding cake was the ornamental vase and artificial flowers which had topped the bride's parents' wedding cake.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Long will spend a week's honeymoon at Shawnigan Lake. When they return they will live in an apartment at 2008 Fernwood Road.

As her traveling costume the bride wore a loganberry wine suit with gray gabardine topcoat.

Baby Christened In St. George's Church, Cadboro Bay

Rev. William Hills is pictured above, holding the small daughter of Arthur J. R. Ash, M.L.A., and Mrs. Ash, at a christening ceremony in St. George's Church Sunday afternoon. The baby received the names Cairine Jennifer. Godparents, also pictured above, are Mr. and Mrs. Alan Vizard and Mrs. James Stinson. A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. M. Foote, the baby's maternal grandparents, 3410 Uplands Road, followed the ceremony. Mrs. Catherine Ash of Ottawa, the paternal grandmother, who has been visiting in Victoria since last autumn, was among those present.

Ottawa Girl Weds Eric Adrian Moore

Ottawa and Victoria share interest in the wedding at Belmont Avenue United Church yesterday evening at which Charlotte Palmer Mitchell became the bride of Eric Adrian Moore.

Rev. C. R. McGillivray read the nuptial service which united in marriage the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Mitchell of Ottawa and the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Moore, 1517 Bank Street, Victoria.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an afternoon-length gown of soft rose crepe with long sleeves, a short V-shaped neckline and a drape at the shoulder. Her draped skirt was fashioned with three tiers coming to points at each side.

With it she wore an off-the-face hat of pearl grey straw with a large satin bow at the back, and pearl grey accessories. Her corsage bouquet of sweet peas was centred with gardenias.

As bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Maddock wore a pale blue dress with cap sleeves and full skirt. Her long gloves and accessories were white.

Boyd Moore was best man for his brother, and Maurice Hundleby ushered.

Guests at the reception and buffet supper at Terry's Rose Room following the ceremony were received by Mrs. Mitchell, who wore a blue floral print dress and off-the-face black straw hat, and by Mrs. Moore, who wore a mauve ensemble.

Following a short honeymoon in Vancouver, the new Mr. and Mrs. Moore will return to Victoria to make their home.

For traveling costume the bride wore an aqua suit with sheer pink blouse.

Grand Chapter Sessions Continue Today And Tomorrow

Past grand matron, Mrs. Effie Schmeelk and past grand patron, Clarence Deaville, gave the call to order this morning at 9.30, when formal opening of the Grand Chapter of British Columbia, Order of the Eastern Star, took place in the Crystal ballroom at the Empress Hotel.

Reports of grand officers were heard.

The Eastern Star choir presented three numbers. Sessions continued this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow.

Monday evening, the worthy grand matron, assisted by the worthy grand patron, welcomed general grand chapter officers, general grand chapter committee members, worthy grand matrons and patrons and past grand matrons and patrons of the other grand jurisdictions; past grand matrons and patrons of British Columbia; worthy matrons and patrons and matrons and patrons of hostess chapters and committee on arrangements of grand chapter. Responses were given respectively by Mrs. Grace Shane, P.G.M.; Mrs. Audrey Marr, P.G.M., and Earl Bell, P.G.P.; Mrs. Alice Fletcher, W.M., Rossland, and Frank Halliday, W.P., Chilliwack; Mrs. Gertrude McKean, P.M., Victoria and chairman of arrangements.

Grand officers of other grand jurisdictions and grand representatives were welcomed by past grand matron, Mrs. Agnes Whittaker, with Mrs. Ruth Berry, P.M., Langley Prairie, and grand representative of Washington State responding.

New members of grand chapter were welcomed by Mrs. Mary Buchan, associate grand matron. Mrs. Katherine Black, A.M., Vancouver, and W. Nicholson, A.P., Nanaimo, responded.

Mrs. Mabel Birnie, hostess to pages, with pages and ushers were welcomed by associate grand conductress Mrs. Ellen Brown. Miss Jean Duff, Vancouver, and Charles Walker, P.P., Abbotsford, responded.

Several selections were given by the Eastern Star choir.

Teas, Luncheons, Dinners Highlight Chapter Sessions

Social events planned in connection with the 37th "Silver" annual session of Grand Chapter of British Columbia Order of the Eastern Star, include luncheons, teas and dinners, with specially arranged motor tours of the city where time permits.

Hostess chapters are, Queen City No. 5; Victoria Chapter, No 17; Esquimalt, No. 41 and Oak Bay, No. 42, of Victoria with Ruth Chapter, No. 22, Saanichton.

Today, at 12.30, a grand representatives' luncheon was held in the Princess Louise Room at the Empress Hotel with Past Matrons Mrs. Grace Cox, Mrs. Jean Thompson and Mrs. Isabel Lock as conveners.

Also at noon today, in the Duke of Kent Room at the hotel, worthy matrons, worthy patrons, associate matrons and associate patrons gathered for a luncheon, convened by Mesdames Margaret Leheim, Elizabeth Wardle, Edith Garrett and Elizabeth Reston.

At six o'clock tonight, Mrs. Lily Field convenes the Jessie Hichens-Smith Club banquet in the Princess Louise Room at the Empress Hotel, while at 6.30 a past grand's dinner will also take place at the hotel.

A drive to Government House and a tour of Victoria gardens has been arranged for Wednesday afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, followed by a grand officers' no-host banquet in the Princess Charlotte Room at the Empress Hotel. Grand Organist Mrs. Lorna McKenzie and Associate Grand Conductress, Mrs. Ellen Brown are in charge of arrangements.

Monday at noon the Foster Secretary Association luncheon and annual meeting took place and at 5.30 a no-host banquet was held in the Grill Room. Conveners were Past Matrons Mrs. Florrie Stade, Mrs. Nettie Rolfe, Mrs. Adelaide Doney, Mrs. Doris Ferrari and Mrs. Doris Watson.

Mrs. Jessie Hichens-Smith was honored Monday afternoon at the tea hour when Victoria Chapter No. 17 entertained in the C.P.R. Social Club rooms, Belleville Street. Other guests were worthy matrons and associate matrons of the order.

For delegates, out-of-town members and guests who arrived on the week-end and for local members of the Order of the Eastern Star, divine service was held at Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday evening. Past Matron Mrs. Adam Miles convened arrangements.

A reception followed in the C.P.R. social club rooms, Belleville Street, for grand officers, past grand matrons and patrons with Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Jessie Hichens-Smith and Worthy Grand Patron John H. Robinson, as hosts. Past Matron Mrs. Margaret Bland was in charge of arrangements.

Flood Fund—Members of Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, I.O.D.E., in meeting last week, decided to turn over their entire emergency fund of $74.46 to the Flood Relief Fund. Plans were made for a garden party in August and a 30th anniversary tea in September. It was announced that the chapter's treasurer, Mrs. H. Bell, was leaving to make her home in Vancouver.

Local Council Closing Meeting

Thanks to the organizing committee and housekeepers of the Red Cross Home Emergency Service, who are celebrating the fourth anniversary of their founding, were conveyed in a resolution made at the closing meeting of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A.

Appreciation was also expressed to Miss J. E. M. Bruce, who has been to a great extent responsible for the success of the service.

It was announced that the receiving depot for clothes for Britain will be closed during the summer months, but will be reopened in September, time and place to be announced later.

Mrs. E. M. Bell and Mrs. Blair Reid were appointed delegates to attend a Public Utilities meeting June 21 to protest increase in the price of household gas.

A motion was passed to send a letter of thanks to the C.P.R. for their recognition of Vancouver Island talent in the redecoration of the Princess Kathleen.

A letter of congratulation will be sent to Miss Alice Ravenhill, who will receive an honorary degree from the University of British Columbia.

The council endorsed the six-point plan for the blind submitted by the White Cane Club delegate.

1st. FOR FLAVOR HP SAUCE

DIDN'T I TELL YOU? You get 50% MORE Jam or Jelly with CERTO

AND RESULTS ARE SURE!

Sounds almost unbelievable — until you know the reasons why. Certo is nothing but "fruit pectin" — the natural substance in fruit which makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell." It's extracted from fruits in which it is most plentiful for better, quicker, easier jam and jelly making.

1. Short boil — That's why, when you use Certo, you don't have to "boil down" your fruit to make it set. A one-to-two-minute full, rolling boil is enough for jams . . . a half-minute-to-a-minute for jellies.

2. Extra yield — The short Certo boil saves all the precious fruit juice which, in long boiling, goes off in steam. You get an extra yield of 50% more jam or jelly.

3. Saves time, work — What a lot of time and work it saves, too! The old long-boil way you'd have to boil and stir many times as long.

4. Fresh fruit flavour — colour — With Certo you use fruit at its peak of flavor and colour and not the under-ripe fruit used in long-boil recipes. The Certo boil is too short to spoil this lovely taste and colour. They stay right in your jam or jelly.

5. No failures — You'll have no failures if you follow exactly the recipes provided with Certo. Different fruits need different handling, so there's a separate tested recipe for each one.

'Dragonwyck' Comes To Dominion Screen

The widely-heralded 20th Century-Fox filmization of "Dragonwyck," Anya Seton's famous best-seller, comes to the screen of the Dominion Theatre today, starring Gene Tierney in the role of Miranda, with Walter Huston as Gene's stern father, Vincent Price as the egomaniacal Nicholas Van Ryn and Glenn Langan as the idealistic Dr. Jeff Turner.

The picture boasts an outstanding supporting cast headed by Anne Revere, Spring Byington, Connie Marshall and Henry Morgan.

YORK THEATRE

Teresa Wright, who co-stars with Ray Milland in Paramount's "The Imperfect Lady," at the York Theatre, knows the theatrical profession from every angle.

After graduation from high school, Teresa spent two seasons in summer stock where she helped to build and paint scenery, wrestled props, learned the fundamentals of lighting and set construction and a great deal about acting.

RIO THEATRE

Barry Fitzgerald has learned to dance. The whimsical little Irishman, who never thought of acting until he was 42, has taken up with the light fantastic, now that he is 57 years old. But, he insists, he's done it purely for professional reasons.

Barry makes his debut as a screen dancer in B. G. DeSylva's "The Stork Club," the Paramount comedy—with music — starring Betty Hutton, which is now at the Rio Theatre.

ATLAS THEATRE

Otto Preminger turned celebrity hunter to stock a Stork Club scene in "Daisy Kenyon," now at the Atlas Theatre, with familiar faces. Both Walter Winchell and Leonard Lyons were in Hollywood to aid in the Damon Runyon cancer drive and both agreed to play themselves. The director also nabbed John Garfield, who wandered on the set, to sit in at the bar.

FLOOD FUND HERE EXCEEDS MINIMUM MARK—Greater Victoria's contribution to the B.C. Flood Emergency Fund went to the $102,416 mark Monday night when W. S. Oliver (left), president of the Victoria branch, Provincial Government Employees' Association, turned over $11,616 to Norman Yarrow (right), fund chairman for this area, at a branch meeting in Prince Robert House. The amount, subscribed by B.C. government workers through a payroll deduction plan, put the drive well over the minimum $100,000 mark. In addition to their individual contributions, branch members voted $1,000 from their treasury, to be forwarded to Vancouver for delivery to the flood fund with contributions from other branches.

Royal Society Medals Awarded In Vancouver; President Speaks

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Margaret Newton, Victoria, Monday night received the Royal Society of Canada's Flavelle Medal for outstanding contributions to science.

Other medals awarded at the general meeting of the society here went to Gabrielle Roy and Canon Lionel Groulx, both of Montreal.

The Lorne Pierce Medal, presented for achievement in the literary field, went to Miss Roy, author of the best seller, "The Tin Flute." The Tyrell Medal for history was awarded to Canon Groulx of the University of Montreal, who was cited as a "master of the spiritual life."

WHEAT IMPROVEMENT

Dr. Newton is noted for her pioneer work on wheat stem rust. A graduate of McGill University and a specialist in wheat diseases, she went to the federal rust research laboratory at Winnipeg in 1925 and worked with a team of outstanding scientists on the problem of developing rust resistant wheats.

She was the only one present to receive a medal.

She was congratulated by her former associate, Dr. W. P. Thompson, dean of the University of Saskatchewan's College of Arts and Science, and president of the society.

STUDY OF MUTATIONS

In his presidential address Dr. Thompson said true democracy is in harmony with the biological basis of human life.

The speaker, head of the biology department of the University of Saskatchewan, said that "if the stars in their courses are not fighting for democracy, the genes in our chromosomes are."

Dr. Thompson, who is ranked as one of Canada's foremost geneticists, spoke on "Mutations," the mysterious changes in plant and animal life which alter color, size or behavior.

Man was unique in the immense number of variations. This "human diversity" was a "sound basis" for democracy.

"If we are all alike or conformed to a few patterns or could readily be made to do so by education and indoctrination, the authoritarian state . . . might be best for us."

"But no species with such a wealth of inborn differences as ours will long rest contentedly in the same bonds, even though the bonds be of their own forging," he said.

RUSSIAN VIEWS

Although scientists, still with much to learn about mutations, were quite sure acquired characteristics were never inherited, some of their Russian colleagues were not convinced. For them, other views "serve high purposes of state."

Authoritarian Russia had established an orthodox belief that permanent improvement could be brought about by bettering man's environment.

Several of the best Russian geneticists who refuse to affirm this official belief have disappeared," he said.

'Sitting Pretty' At Royal Third Week

The hilarious comedy "Sitting Pretty" is at the Royal Theatre for the third week. A comedy that goes beyond hilarity and into the realms of laughter that can come only from a warm, joyful human experience, "Sitting Pretty" uses as its springboard one of today's most timely and entertaining subjects: The problem of a baby-sitter, with hilarious complications not familiar to every young couple. Robert Young, Maureen O'Hara and Clifford Webb are featured.

Suggest Less Wild Life, Drinking, Smoking In Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Recently I asked some stars for reasons why the old folks were not patronizing the movies. It seems the readers have some ideas on the topic, too. Here are some of them:

"The world is so full of beauty that it is disgusting to sit and see shooting and fighting and wild life, especially when we feel they are the pictures our grand children are spending their money on. Their morals need uplifting these days."—Mrs. C. H. Chaston, Victoria, B.C.

"A clean movie without drinking and smoking will bring packed houses with adults past 40."—L. D. P., National City, Calif.

BIG BUILD-UP

Doris Day's stellar build-up has reached the point where Warners is trotting out its entire star list to support her, Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan in their next picture.

The film now is called "Two Guys and a Gal," and although the "two guys" are also starred, both admit it is a great vehicle for Doris, the former Les Brown Band vocalist. The story takes place at Warners' studio and all of the Warners' star list will make appearances.

Producer Alex Gottlieb further brags that it will be the first modern-day picture with old-time musical numbers. The plot revolves around the filming of a mythical film, "The Gay Nineties."

SHORTS DEPARTMENT

Fred MacMurray says he has given up independent producing. "I'm a lazy guy," he admits. "Why should I knock myself out as a producer when there's as much money in acting—and fewer headaches." He reports he'll go to his northern California ranch after "Family Honeymoon" (with Claudette Colbert) and stay there until winter.

Mae Murray, star of the silent films, says she is coming back to films as producer-actress of an independent company. She made a pair of talkies nine years ago, her first since the advent of sound. She also hopes to appear in German anti-Nazi films for the United States State Department, if the project materializes.

David Niven tells me he'll take his whole family to England this summer, but he hopes soon to find a permanent home for them. His five-year-old boy was born in a hospital which was bombed on his first night of life, spent 186 nights in air raid shelters, has had two mothers and several nursemaids and has spent his later years shuttling between England and the U.S. No wonder David wants to settle down.

CAPITOL THEATRE

June Haver is wondering when her studio will make up its corporative mind. June has portrayed every age on the screen from 10 to 26 (she's just 21) and is currently playing a 16-year-old opposite Lon McCallister in Twentieth Century-Fox's technicolor "Scudda-Hoo! Scudda-Hay!" which is currently at the Capitol Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE

"Dark Command," starring Walter Pidgeon, John Wayne and Claire Trevor, is being shown this week at the Plaza Theatre.

It is an action-packed western drama of lust for power in a man who stops at nothing to gain a woman's love.

ODEON THEATRE

Columbia's "The Mating of Millie," romantic comedy starring Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keyes, is now being shown at the Odeon Theatre with Ron Randell and Willard Parker importantly featured. The screenplay for the Casey Robinson production was written by Louella MacFarlane and St. Clair McKelway. Henry Levin directed.

Power Commission Makes Electricity Available Cheaper

The people of Nanaimo, Duncan, Qualicum, Parksville and Salt Spring Island are paying less for electricity.

This is announced by S. R. Weston, chairman of the B.C. Power Commisson, who said over-all reduction on a weighted average for domestic power is 17.8 per cent and 16.3 for other users. The service charge has been abolished.

The changes become effective today.

The reduction was made possible by a 10 per cent reduction in the cost of operation per kilowatt hour affected over the past year, and the increase in consumption, Mr. Weston said.

The new rates, he added, are designed to create greater demand and consumption.

A new schedule of block rates has been set up, 7 cents a kilowatt hour in urban areas, and 8 cents in rural areas, for the first block; 2 cents an hour throughout the district except Salt Spring, for the second block (rate at Salt Spring is 1½ cents); 8-10th cent for the third block throughout.

Reduction of rates in the Port Alberni area are under consideration, Mr. Weston said. He expected some action on this within a month.

Barred From Driving Vehicle For 6 Months

Caught by the driver of the other car he had been in collision with, John B. Murray, Sidney, pleaded guilty in provincial police court Monday afternoon to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs and had his driver's license suspended for six months.

He appeared before A. I. Thomas, J.P. Evidence was that his car was in a brush with one driven by Raymond E. Stevens on Craigflower Road. When the accused did not stop Stevens took chase and caught up with him, evidence revealed. Damage to the vehicles was light.

Local Liberals Name Delegates, Pass Resolutions, For Parley

Victoria Liberals on Tuesday night chose delegates to the national convention at Ottawa in August and passed several resolutions to be submitted to that assembly.

Over 150 members of the Victoria Liberal Association (federal riding) crowded the new Liberal Hall, 1232A Government Street, for the special meeting called solely to deal with national convention topics.

Elected as delegates to the parley, which is scheduled for Aug. 5, 6 and 7, were Mrs. J. L. Gatesy D. J. Proudfoot and A. H. Cox. Alternates are Mrs. J Smith, H. Large and W. Wilson.

Also attending the convention from Victoria will be Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., president of the Federal Women's Liberal Association.

The convention is considered of particular importance in that a successor will be chosen to Prime Minister King as national leader of the Liberal Party.

INCOME TAX EXEMPTIONS

In addition to passing resolutions asking for more income tax exemptions and Dominion wide contributory old age pensions, without the means test, the meeting chose a resolutions committee to draft other recommendations for presentation to the convention.

The committee is composed of Mr. Proudfoot, chairman, who is president of the local association; Mrs. Blair Reid of the women's quorum; G. Edgelow, vice-president of the Laurier Club; J. J. Proudfoot, president of the Young Liberal Association, and A. H. Cox, treasurer of the parent association.

In the resolution on tax exemptions, the meeting called for the raising of exemptions of single and married persons from $750 and $1,500 to $1,500 and $3,000. Soaring costs of living justified the increases, the association maintained.

The resolution asked also that when a husband and wife both are working, one be given married income tax status rather than both being rated as single for tax purposes.

The resolution asked that students working in vacation time be exempt from income tax, and the income of underage students not be added to their parents' income for taxation.

Another resolution recommended a system of alternate voting in elections involving three or more candidates. The voter would mark, under this system, first and second choices on the ballots.

Uniformity of polling hours across Canada and withholding of election results until all polls are closed were urged in another resolution. Polling hours should be from 8 in the morning until 8 at night, the resolution stated.

The meeting heard an informative address on the mechanics of electing a president of the U.S. by Ralph Matthews. He gave details of the five steps in which a president is chosen, starting with the conventions and concluding with the polling.

Republican Nominators Limited To 15 Minutes

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Delegates to the Republican National Convention will have to get to the point when it comes to speech-making. Walter Hallahan, chairman of the arrangement committee, said Sunday the committee has recommended "the usual 30-minute time allotted to nominating speeches be cut to 15."

Milk, New Price, June 16	1 qt. Pasteurized	13.00	19.00	46.15

Of all the staple foods, milk has shown almost the smallest percentage increase since April of 1939. According to the above Government figures, milk has shown an increase of 38.78% in the past nine years. Compare this with the upward jump in the price of meat. The consumer's dollar still buys comparatively more milk than many other items.

MUNICIPALITY OF VICTORIA — A BY-LAW

To authorize The Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow the sum of One Million One Hundred and Sixty-five Thousand Dollars ($1,165,000.00) for street construction and reconditioning purposes.

WHEREAS the Municipal Council has caused to be prepared detailed estimates of the sums required to meet the cost of construction and reconditioning streets within the limits of the Corporation and expenses incidental thereto, which estimates are more particularly set forth in the schedule marked "B" and attached hereto and forming part of this By-law;

AND WHEREAS the debt this By-law is intended to create is $1,156,800.00 plus $8,200.00 for By-law and debenture expense, making a total of $1,165,000.00.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the assessed value of the taxable land and improvement within the Municipality according to the last revised assessment roll, being the assessment roll for the year 1948, is $53,242,708.00.

AND WHEREAS the total of the existing debenture debt of the said Corporation, exclusive of debt for works of local improvement and school purposes, is $8,632,947.65;

AND WHEREAS the Inspector of Municipalities has granted his approval of this By-law pursuant to Clause two (2) of Section 179 of the "Municipal Act";

AND WHEREAS the "Victoria City Debt Refunding Act, 1944" provides that the City shall not issue or sell any other debentures or bonds during the life of the refunding debentures except with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in-Council given upon the recommendation of the Minister:

THEREFORE the Municipal Council of The Corporation of the City of Victoria enacts as follows:

1. That the Municipal Council be and it is hereby authorized and empowered to carry out the work of construction and reconditioning of streets as more particularly set out in the Schedule hereto attached and marked "B," which forms part of this By-law.

2. With the object and for the purpose aforesaid, there shall be borrowed on the credit of The Corporation of the City of Victoria at large the sum of ONE MILLION ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($1,165,000.00), and debentures shall be issued therefor in sums of not less than ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS (100.00) each, and bearing interest as hereinafter mentioned, payable half-yearly, and having coupons attached thereto for payment of the interest, all as more particularly set out in Schedule "A" hereto which is hereby declared to be and form part of this By-law.

The debentures shall be in a form to be approved by the Inspector of Municipalities, and shall all bear the same date and shall be dated within two (2) years after the day on which this By-law is finally passed, and shall be issued in serial form, and shall be payable as to principal annually on a day in each year to be set by resolution of the Council of said Corporation in the respective amounts shown for payment of principal in said Schedule "A" hereto. The debentures falling due in each of the first ten (10) years shall bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum (3½%) per annum, and the debentures falling due in each of the remaining ten (10) years shall bear interest at the rate of three and three-quarters per centum (3¾%) per annum.

3. The said debentures, as to both principal and interest, shall be expressed in lawful money of Canada and shall be made payable in such money at the principal office of the Bank of Montreal in any of the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Victoria or Halifax in the Dominion of Canada at the option of the holder thereof.

4. The Mayor and Treasurer of the Corporation shall sign and issue the said debentures and the interest coupons, and the said debentures shall be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the said Corporation. The signatures on the coupons may be printed, lithographed or engraved.

5. Provision shall be made in the debentures for registration thereof as to principal only at the option of the holder.

6. There shall be levied and raised during the currency of said debentures by rate sufficient therefor over and above all other rates, on all the rateable land or rateable land and improvements within The Corporation of the City of Victoria, for the payment of the debt and for the payment of the interest, the amounts in each respective year, as set out in said Schedule "A" hereto.

7. This By-law may be cited as the "STREETS LOAN BY-LAW, 1948."

Passed by the Municipal Council the 11th day of June, A.D. 1948.

TAKE NOTICE that the above is a true copy of the proposed by-law upon which the vote of the Municipality will be taken at the building known as the Victoria Public Market Building, Cormorant Street, in the City of Victoria, on THURSDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of June, 1948; that the polls will be kept open between the hours of NINE o'clock A.M. and SEVEN o'clock P.M.; and that the undersigned has been appointed Returning Officer of the said vote.

M. F. HUNTER, City Clerk,
City Hall, Victoria, B.C., 12th June, 1948.

MUNICIPALITY OF VICTORIA — A BY-LAW

To authorize The Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow the sum of One Hundred and Fifty-five Thousand Dollars ($155,000.00) and to issue debentures therefor on the credit of the Corporation and apply the proceeds thereof towards improving the Corporation's Water Works system.

WHEREAS it is deemed desirable in order to improve the water supply within the corporate limits of the City of Victoria and the Municipality of Esquimalt that certain water mains be replaced with new mains of the size and [illegible]

AND WHEREAS it is deemed desirable to submit to the electors of the City of Victoria pursuant to Part VI of the "Municipal Act" a By-law to provide for raising the amount required for the purpose aforesaid by borrowing the same:

AND WHEREAS the debt this By-law is intended to [illegible]

AND WHEREAS the amount of the assessed value of the taxable lands and improvements within the Municipality according to the last revised assessment roll for the year 1948 is $53,242,708.00;

AND WHEREAS the total of the existing debenture debt of the said Corporation, exclusive of debt for works of local improvement and school purposes, is $8,632,947.65;

AND WHEREAS the Inspector of Municipalities has granted his approval of this By-law pursuant to Clause two (2) of Section 179 of the "Municipal Act";

AND WHEREAS the "Victoria City Debt Refunding Act, 1944" provides that the City shall not issue or sell any other debentures or bonds during the life of the refunding debentures except with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in-Council given upon the recommendation of the Minister;

AND WHEREAS the estimated amount required to be raised annually for paying the debt and for paying the interest are those respective sums set forth in the Schedule "A" hereto attached and shown under their respective headings;

AND WHEREAS all requirements of Sections 22, 23 and 29 of the "Health Act," R.S.B.C., 1936, have been complied with and a provisional certificate from the Provincial Health Officer has been duly obtained:

THEREFORE the Municipal Council of The Corporation of the City of Victoria enacts as follows:

1. That the Municipal Council be and it is hereby authorized and empowered to improve the said Water Works system by replacing and laying new mains in the area served by the Victoria Water Works system, as particularly set out in the schedule hereto attached and marked "B," which forms part of this By-law.

2. With the object and for the purpose aforesaid, there shall be borrowed on the credit of The Corporation of the City of Victoria at large the sum of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($155,000.00), and debentures shall be issued therefor in sums of not less than ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100.00) each, and bearing interest as hereinafter mentioned, payable half-yearly, and having coupons attached thereto for payment of the interest, all as more particularly set out in Schedule "A" hereto which is hereby declared to be and form part of this By-law.

The debentures shall be in a form to be approved by the Inspector of Municipalities and shall all bear the same date and shall be dated within two (2) years after the day on which this By-law is finally passed, and shall be issued in serial form, and shall be payable as to principal annually on a day in each year to be set by resolution of the Council of said Corporation in the respective amounts shown for payment of principal in said Schedule "A" hereto. The debentures falling due in each of the first ten (10) years shall bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum (3½%) per annum, and the debentures falling due in each of the remaining ten (10) years shall bear interest at the rate of three and three-quarters per centum (3¾%) per annum.

3. The said debentures, as to both principal and interest, shall be expressed in lawful money of Canada and shall be made payable in such money at the principal office of the Bank of Montreal in any of the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Victoria or Halifax in the Dominion of Canada at the option of the holder thereof.

4. The Mayor and Treasurer of the Corporation shall sign and issue the said debentures and the interest coupons, and the said debentures shall be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the said Corporation. The signatures on the coupons may be printed, lithographed or engraved.

5. Provision shall be made in the debentures for registration thereof as a principal only at the option of the holder.

6. There shall be levied and raised during the currency of said debentures by rate sufficient therefor over and above all other rates, on all the rateable land or rateable land and improvements within The Corporation of the City of Victoria, for the payment of the debt and for the payment of the interest, the amounts in each respective year, as set out in said Schedule "A" hereto; provided that the sums to be levied and raised in any year by rate as aforesaid may be reduced by the sums contributed from Utilities or from other sources and available to be applied in such year towards payment of such principal or interest.

7. This By-law may be cited as the "WATER WORKS LOAN BY-LAW, 1948."

M. F. HUNTER, City Clerk,
City Hall, Victoria, B.C., 12th June, 1948

MUNICIPALITY OF VICTORIA — A BY-LAW

Authorizing The Corporation of the City of Victoria to dispose of its water works supply system to a Corporation to be created pursuant to the "Greater Victoria Water District Act Amendment Act, 1948."

WHEREAS The Corporation of the City of Victoria is the owner of a water-works supply system and has agreed to sell the same to the Greater Victoria Water District, a Corporation to be created as aforesaid, at and for the price of $3,472,628.00;

AND WHEREAS this By-law does not require the assent of the electors of the said Corporation but it is deemed desirable that the electors shall have the privilege of voting in respect thereof:

NOW THEREFORE the Municipal Council of The Corporation of the City of Victoria enacts as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for The Corporation of the City of Victoria to sell to the Greater Victoria Water District, being a Corporation to be formed pursuant to the "Greater Victoria Water District Act Amendment Act, 1948," all and singular the lands, waterworks, plant, system, property and undertaking now used, owned, and carried on by the City of Victoria as a water works system together with all easements, equipment, timber, and fixtures used or enjoyed as part of or appurtenant thereto or appertaining thereof or in any way incidental thereto (save and except only the distribution system within the limits of the City of Victoria and Esquimalt Municipality, and Thetis Lake and Elk Lake waterworks lands) at and for the price of $3,472,628.00.

2. That it shall be lawful for The Corporation of the City of Victoria to enter into an agreement with the said Corporation to be so created wherein it shall be agreed that the said purchase price of $3,472,628.00 shall be made payable by equal yearly or half-yearly instalments, over a period of fifteen years from the date thereof, with interest on all deferred payments at the rate of three per centum (3%) per annum.

3. That it shall be lawful for The Corporation of the City of Victoria to execute and deliver the said proposed agreement.

4. This By-law may be cited as "VICTORIA WATER WORKS SUPPLY SYSTEM SALE BY-LAW, 1948."

VISUAL CARE
Is Important!

DEFECTIVE eyesight reduces efficiency and greatly hampers the activities of those affected. Many who are afflicted with fading and impaired vision do not realize what is interfering with their work and slowing them down. Nature gives warning of eye trouble by causing headaches and other symptoms. Relief may be had through an Optometric examination and the use of whatever the findings of the examination may indicate. Optometry is the art and science of visual care—outstandingly successful in the great majority of cases of impaired eyesight. The habit of a regular examination is necessary toward keeping vision at its best.

BRITISH COLUMBIA OPTOMETRIC ASSOCIATION

Blind Paralytic Organizing Fleet Of Wheel-Chair Buses

HALIFAX (CP) — The name of Walter Callow is gaining new prominence.

Paralyzed and totally blind, Walter Callow has spent his bed-ridden years doing things for others. He's still at it—harder than ever.

Mr. Callow keeps two secretaries busy from his bed in the Camp Hill Veterans' Hospital here.

Walter Callow—known to his hospital friends as the "human log"—injured his spine in a plane crash in 1917 when he was a member of the Royal Flying Corps.

For 13 years he lived an almost normal life, physically speaking. In 1930 he went to bed and within a year both his mother and wife died. By dealing in real estate, selling Christmas cards and other activities he brought up his daughter, then 10, and put her through college. She now is married to a doctor.

Eight years ago Mr. Callow became totally blind. He is in pain almost constantly.

During the war he established a cigarette "bank" for Canadian servicemen overseas. By the war's end 3,000,000 smokes had been handed out.

He designed and had built last year a wheel-chair coach. It has already traveled thousands of miles around Nova Scotia taking paralyzed veterans, old people and crippled children to baseball games, movies, county fairs, hockey matches, festivals and on just plain scenic drives.

He is now embarked on a scheme to place 50 such buses across Canada and another 2,000 in the United States. To do this he is soliciting the help of private industry. He has written to 13,000 firms in Canada.

"It's time people found out that private industry can do something except fight unions," he says.

Nudists Barred In Stanley Park

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police here have been having some troubles with nude sun-bathers in Stanley Park.

Tonight a parks board commissioner, Rowe Holland, suggested a possible solution: Make it legal.

"We only have a couple of months of real sunshine here," he said. "It wouldn't hurt to set aside a spot for sun-bathers."

The board was shocked.

"It would turn into a tourist attraction," one member thought.

The board not only turned down the suggestion; it passed a by-law to prosecute Stanley Park nude sun-bathers.

Greatest Crowds Greet Truman

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cheering, shouting tens of thousands welcomed President Truman today in the biggest turnout of his cross-country speaking campaign.

Waving, clapping and whistling, they jammed the sidewalks along a four-mile-long parade route. The President, his face wreathed in smiles, waved first to one side then the other as he sat in the tonneau of a salmon pink convertible.

Assistant police chief Joe Reed put the crowd at 750,000 to 1,000,000.

A Canadian WORKER COMPARES

His Life in Canada to a Worker's Life in Russia.

The TRUE FACTS Show:

IN CANADA	IN SOVIET RUSSIA
1. In Canada he can undertake collective bargaining through his union.	In the U.S.S.R., collective bargaining is forbidden. Wages are set by the Red bosses, and the workers and their unions have nothing to say about it. In Pravda for December 29, 1935, Andreev, on behalf of the Politbureau, announced: "The wage scale must be left entirely in the hands of the heads of industry."
2. In Canada, wages are relatively uniform for the same category of work in a plant.	In Russia, all wages are on a sweated labor basis, with some men making 30 times as much money as others on the same job. Relentless pressure for output prevails.
3. In Canada, the union, under certain conditions, may strike.	IN SOVIET RUSSIA, STRIKERS WOULD BE SHOT.
4. In Canada, there is no official penalty for lateness.	In Soviet Russia, lateness of 20 minutes without a certificate from the plant doctor, makes one liable to such penalties as forced labor in Siberia. (Cf Izvestia, January 3, 1939).
5. In Canada, the workers are free to change their jobs.	In the U.S.S.R., they are frozen to their jobs. (Decrees in September, 1930, and January, 1939.)
6. In Canada, the worker can own his own home; as a tenant, he is protected by contract, and during recent emergency years was helped by the freezing of rents and a temporary guarantee of continued occupation.	In Soviet Russia there is one vast "company town," with all lodgings owned by the government. There the factory boss can eject the worker from his home for breaches of labor discipline (grousing, lateness, etc.) and he can get no other home. (Edict of December 4, 1932.)
7. In Canada, there is a progressive adoption of the principle of holidays with pay. Wages are so much higher than in Russia that individuals plan their vacations personally.	In Soviet Russia, every worker is supposed to get holidays, with pay and free accommodation in glorified holiday resorts, but by an edict of April, 1934, these privileges are reserved for a small minority of shock brigaders.
8. In Canada, the worker's children are entitled to free education up to Grade 10, and in some provinces up to Grade 13. (The latter is the equivalent of a full university education in Russia, where high schools end at Grade 10, followed by three university years.)	In the U.S.S.R., since 1940, workers' children must pay heavy fees after Grade VII (edict of October 2, 1940), and those who cannot pay are drafted into compulsory labor battalions. As a result, very few Soviet workers' children ever get beyond Grade VII.
9. In Canada, old age pensions are granted by all the provinces. On December 31, 1944, 187,127 persons out of 11,500,000 were in receipt of pensions.	Although in the U.S.S.R. in 1935 there were over a million persons (out of 170,000,000) legally entitled to old age pensions, only 91,055 persons were in receipt of pensions.
10. In Canada, there is no penalty for leaving the country.	In Soviet Russia, the penalty for escaping the country is death (edit of November, 1929, still in force in paragraph 58 of the Penal Code in its 1943 edition), with five years in Siberia for one's innocent family (edict of June, 1934).
11. In Canada, there is no forced labor, except for criminals in penitentiaries, totaling 2,969 at the close of 1943.	In Russia, upwards of 20,000,000 Soviet slaves* are dying at forced labor in the vast concentration camps of the N.K.V.D.M.V.Ds, many of them for no greater offence than being late for work, or being the relatives of a refugee.

Most Of Republican Governors Foresee Dewey As Candidate

NEW CASTLE, N.H. (AP)—Governor Thomas Dewey of New York is the best bet to win the Republican Presidential nomination in the opinion of most of the Republican governors attending a national conference here.

An informal poll by the Christian Science Monitor and the Associated Press of 15 Republican governors as to who they thought would win the party nomination showed this:

Governor Dewey, seven; Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, two; Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, one; Harold Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, one.

Three governors of so-called "key" states refused to voice an anonymous opinion.

Among the Democrats, the general feeling was that President Truman would win renomination.

The general opinion among Republican state leaders attending the conference was that Governor Dewey was out in front—but they all emphasized they were speaking of his position as of today.

One governor said privately—"and don't quote me" — he thought Senator Vandenberg would be the Republican Presidential nominee three weeks ago. Now he thinks it will be Dewey.

Commons Passes Libel Amendment

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Monday passed without comment a Criminal Code amendment dealing with libel.

The change, if approved by the Senate, will mean that a person charged with conspiracy to publish a defamatory libel will be subject to trial only in the province in which he resides or in which the libel is published.

The amendment was made to prevent a repetition of the recent New Liberty magazine case. In that case, Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto, publisher of the magazine, and Harold Dingman, its Ottawa correspondent, were required to go to Edmonton to face charges of conspiracy to publish a defamatory libel.

The charges, later stayed at the request of the Alberta Attorney-General, arose out of a Dingman article, entitled "Babies for Export."

As a result, the Canadian Press, the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and the Periodical Press Association asked for a Criminal Code change. The Alberta government opposed the requests.

Victorians Hurt In Manitoba Crash

WINNIPEG (CP) — Three British Columbians are recovering in hospital here from injuries suffered early today in an automobile accident on the Pembina highway, two miles south of St. Norbert, Man.

They are G. Grant McOrmond, 25, and his wife, 23, of 942 Wilmer Street, Victoria, B.C., both of whom suffered back injuries, and Miss Elizabeth Lang, 26, of New Westminster, who received head injuries. Miss Donna Hardy of suburban Norwood also received head injuries.

Mr. McOrmond, a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, and an R.C.A.F. veteran of the Second World War, is an instructor in English in Victoria College. He and his wife and infant son recently flew to Saskatoon to visit Mrs. McOrmond's parents. From that city they went on to Manitoba to visit McOrmond's parents.

Receives Sportsmanship Trophy

Acting Mayor J. D. Hunter presents the trophy which bears his name to Noel Morgan, left winger of the Victoria United soccer team, for being named the most sportsmanlike player in city soccer this season. Morgan was one of the standouts of the United during the season and rated one of the best wingers in the Coast League.

Victoria Fans Limp As A's Win In 11th

Jack Palmer Climaxes Thrilling Comeback With Game-Winning Triple

Victoria Athletics did it again last night. For the second time in five nights the local ball club won an extra-inning affair, a thrill-packed 3 to 2 decision over Wenatchee Chiefs in the 11th. Rallying to turn what looked like certain defeat into victory the A's left 1,300 fans as limp as a piece of week-old lettuce. Win failed to move the Athletics out of sixth place but moved them within half a game of fifth position Wenatchee.

Second of the four-game set, switched here from Wenatchee, will be run off tonight. The A's, pointing for that charmed .500 circle, will use Lenny Kasparovitch on the mound with high hopes of making it two straight over the skidding Chiefs.

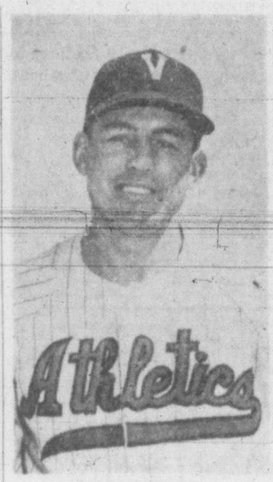
Athletics really had to dig in and do it the hard way last night. One run down with two away in the last of the 11th the boys put together three solid base knocks to win. Hustling Charlie Balassi kept hopes alive by lining a single to right field on a three and two pitch. Vic Buccola pulled one to right field for a single, sending Balassi all the way to third. Jack Palmer, who had gone hitless, parked the ball up against the left field fence for a triple and it was all over as the fans cut loose with a roar.

LIERMAN PUT OUT

Wenatchee pitcher Glenn Lierman, who had taken over in the ninth and was charged with the defeat, hurled his glove against the stands in disgust while third sacker Ray McNulty heaved the ball over the outfield fence on its return to the infield. The entire Wenatchee club was burned up over the outcome.

For eight innings Victoria's Frank Logue and Stan Gilson, recently purchased by Wenatchee from Tacoma, hooked up in a real pitching duel. The clubs reeled off seven innings in little better than an hour without a runner crossing the plate. Both clubs had runners in scoring position on several occasions but failed to break through.

In the eighth Logue sent in a "fat" pitch to outfielder Nick Palica and he lifted it over the left centre field fence to move Wenatchee into a 1 to 0 lead.



JACK PALMER
. . . supplied punch.

After leaving a pair of runners stranded in the eighth the A's rallied to tie it in the ninth. Archie Wilson opened the inning by hitting on the ground through shortstop for a single. Wilson stole second after Recca had failed to move him along with a sacrifice. Babe Jensen singled sharply through the middle but Wilson was held up at third. Lou Kubiak was purposely walked to load the bags. The strategy backfired when Gilson walked Roy Gilmore to force in the tying run. That was all for Gilson as Lierman was sent in to cut short the rally. He took pinch-hitter Jim Propst on strikes and got Balassi to hit into a force at second for the third out.

Athletics loaded the bags again in the 10th but failed to get the winning run as Jensen forced the runner at the plate and Kubiak lined out to centre.

STEALS HOME

Palica proved a thorn in the side of the Victoria club again in the 11th when he doubled, was sacrificed along to third and, with two out, stole home with what had every appearance of being the winning run until the Athletics staged their thrilling comeback.

Joe Blankenship, who took over from Logue to start the 10th, was the winning hurler. It was the second extra-inning triumph for the right-hander as he was the winner in that 13-inning battle with Spokane last Thursday. The run allowed by Blankenship in the 10th came after he had speared a line drive off the bat of Jess McWilliams and doubled a runner at first.

Vancouver Capilanos today held third place in the standings by a precarious one percentage point. The Caps squeezed past Salem in the standings by edging Spokane 5 to 4. Salem lost a 7 to 1 exhibition tilt to its Coast League parents, Portland.

The rising Caps took a one-run edge in the ninth inning on Snyder's single, a sacrifice and Tran's base knock. Earlier, Leo Thomas clouted a two-run homer for Spokane—the first the Indians have collected this season on their home field.

Australia Wins Test Match By 8 Wickets

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—Australia won the first cricket test of the season, defeating England by eight wickets.

Needing 98 runs in the second innings to win, the Aussies scored them for the loss of two wickets, one of which was Captain Don Bradman's. The heavy-hitting Bradman was dismissed without scoring.

It was the final day of the five-day match.

England had scored 441 runs in a fighting second innings after being ingloriously put out for 165 in the first innings. Australia's first innings score was 509.

Four other test matches are to be played in England this summer.

A sturdy batting display by Denis Compton enabled the home team to roll up a score of 411 for seven wickets by the lunch interval. After lunch England lost the last three wickets for 30 runs.

T. G. Evans, after completing 50 runs in 105 minutes, was then caught at the wicket at 423.

At lunch time, England had a lead of 67 runs over the Eussies.

HITS 19 BOUNDARIES

Compton, English all-rounder, crashed into his own wicket after scoring 184. The star batsman swung at a ball which was head-high and lost his balance. He had added 30 runs to his overnight score. During his stand, Compton hit 19 boundaries.

Youthful Docusen In Bid Thursday For Welter Crown

CHICAGO (AP)—Lean and taut Bernard Docusen of New Orleans will try to put youth back in the boxing championship picture Thursday night when he meets champion Sugar Ray Robinson for the welterweight title at Comiskey Park.

The 21-year-old Docusen, who popped out of nowhere into welter contention, is really a fistic babe-in-the-woods in this day of mature, if not aged fighters.

Joe Louis, Tony Zale, Jersey Joe Walcott and Gus Lesnevich, are marching down the glory road and they'll never see 30 again. Robinson, himself, at 27 is six years older than Docusen.

Docusen isn't apologizing for his tender years. He's been boxing since he was 16, when he won the national A.A.U. bantam title, and he's the father of two children.

Docusen's record of 48 wins in 50 professional fights is packed with triumphs over a lot of guys named Joe. But he's never been knocked down.

FINE RECORD

Docusen, who claims Filipino-Spanish-French parentage, rests his biggest bid to fame on a decision over Gene Burton last February, two months after that veteran had beaten him. Docusen's only other defeat was by one Eddie Lee of Houston, Tex., whom he flattened in three seconds in a re-match.

His other victims include Lulu Constantino, Phil Terranova, Leon Haire, Jorge Morelia, Norman Rubio, Vinnie Rossano, Earl Turner and Joey Barnum. Three of them, Docusen put to sleep—Haire (6), Morelia (2) and Barnum (7).

There's hardly any comparison with the knockout-studded record of Robinson, beaten only once in 88 fights.

But the National Boxing Association rates Docusen the top welterweight behind Robinson.

Ball Players Set Game Saturday For Flood Relief Fund

An unusual game is on tab for the city's diamond followers at Athletic Park Saturday night when a five-inning exhibition tilt will be staged between an all-star squad from the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association, and Douglas Tire, top-place senior A softball nine.

In addition to the feature attraction will be a display by the city pro-rec group, with all proceeds for the B.C. Emergency Flood Relief Fund.

Bill Cull, president of the senior baseball loop, issued a tentative list of players on the all-star roster last night. They include: Bill Prior, Rookie Wright, Wally Thomson and Mickey Smith of Ben's Bombers; Rosy McLellan, Jimmy John, Len French and Del Bertrand, Pitzer & Nex; Jeff Worrell and Moe Tudor, Navy; Vic Dale, Gar Taylor and Toad Garnet, Eagles, and Clint Hodges, Boosters.

All three players from the Eagles' squad also perform with Jim Lackie's softball club, however, and it is possible they will see action on both sides before the night is over.

Tiremen's Ken Gunter Blanks Timber Service

With Ken Gunter applying the stopper by way of a six-hit shutout, Douglas Tire last night threw off the challenge of Timber Service for a share in the Senior A men's softball league leadership by thumping the runner-up timbermen, 6 to 0.

By losing, Timber Service dropped into a tie with the idle Brentwood Aces for second place while Douglas Tire took a two-game lead on the pack. Tomorrow night Brentwood can take over undisputed possession of runner-up slot when they tangle with Navy at Central Park at 6.45.

Douglas Tire opened the scoring in the first inning with singles by Ray Byers and Don Robinson and an infield out doing the damage good for one run.

Toad Garnet hit a home run for the winners in the fourth and Dale made it 3 to 0 when Hudlin erred on his blow to right field.

Final runs came in the eighth inning on successive singles by Robinson, Hen Harris and Chick Newman and a miscue by Norm Martin.

Martin went the distance for the timbermen and allowed seven hits.

LANGFORD DEFEATED

Bob Beacon of Penguin Cafe turned the trick last night that no other pitcher has been able to do this season when he hurled his mates to a 3 to 2 triumph over Langford, who up until last night were undefeated in league play.

Rallying for two runs in the last half of the ninth inning, Forest Products edged Chinese Students, 11 to 10, in another men's B contest.

In Senior C games, B.C.F.R. downed Hawkes, 11 to 7, and Warner's C.Y.O. defeated Post Office, 13 to 10.

Scoring six runs in the sixth frame, J.H.&E. defeated New Method, 11 to 10, in a women's senior B game. Hotshots whipped Sidney Merchants, 14 to 7, in a junior girls' game to move into a three-way tie for first place with Sidney and Goblins.

Opening Of Church Softball League Set

The Church Softball League will commence season's play next week with Fairfield United meeting St. Saviour's in an intermediate tilt at Victoria West school grounds June 24 at 7.

Proceeds from the game will be turned over to the Flood Relied Fund. Senior, intermediate and junior teams make up the league. Schedule will be drawn up when all entries are received.

Elementary Schools Softball Finals Set

Defeating South Park in one bracket of the semifinal round, North Ward last week qualified for the Elementary Schools' girls' softball final and will meet the winner of today's clash between Margaret Jenkins and Tillicum in the playoff.

Tomorrow night Monterey will meet Oaklands in the finals of the boys' league. Oaklands downed North Ward, 3 to 1, in one semifinal while Monterey eliminated Tillicum School, 12 to 4.

Release Juvenile Softball Schedule

Juvenile Softball League schedule for the next two weeks follows:

Tonight—Junior Optimists vs. Y.M.C.A.; Pro Pats vs. Pages.

June 17—Pages vs. Junior Optimists; Pro Pats vs. C.C.Y.M.

June 22—C.C.Y.M. vs. Y.M.C.A.; Junior Optimists vs. Pro Pats.

June 24—Y.M.C.A. vs. Pages; C.C.Y.M. vs. Junior Optimists.

June 29—Pro Pats vs. Y.M.C.A.; Pages vs. C.C.Y.M.

July 1—Y.M.C.A. vs. Junior Optimists; Pages vs. Pro Pats.

First mentioned team is home team. Home diamonds are Central Junior High, Colville Road and Victoria West.

UPLANDS GOLF

Uplands Golf Club defeated the Jackson Park Club of Seattle in a friendly intercity team match at Uplands over the week-end by a score of 27½ to 12½. A return match will take place at Seattle July 11.

Titleholder Ray Weston Files P.N.W. Golf Entry

Defending titleholder, Ray Weston of Portland, 1947 winner of the Pacific Northwest golf championship, will be on hand to defend his laurels against all comers in next week's 47th renewal of the tournament at the Victoria Golf Club.

Weston's entry was received over the week-end by secretary Wally Bowden.

Another formidable entry received in the same mail was that of Guy Owens of Cut Bank, Montana, a scratch player making his first appearance on Canadian fairways in the P.N.W.

B.C. women's champion Mrs. Jack Todd has filed her entry for the women's championship tournament to be played at Uplands Club.

W. F. Munro, chairman of the ticket committee, announced today that weekly gallery tickets for the tournament are now available from club secretaries and professionals of city clubs.

Final plans for the tournament are well in hand, according to Dr. George Bigelow, chairman of the tournament committee, and W. H. M. Haldane, P.N.G.A. president.

Bulk of the entries are expected in this week's mail and there is every indication the tournament will produce some top flight golf.

AFTER having listened to several of the team managers in the Western International League squawk about the problems they face in attempting to keep their clubs operating smoothly, under such a tough schedule, I had a chat with Reg Patterson of the Victoria Athletics in an effort to get an answer to the problem. "Lack of Sunday baseball in Canada is the main reason for all our troubles in drafting a schedule," Patterson said. "Also this year has seen a couple of national holidays fall on week-ends which has naturally resulted in added hardships for the clubs."

PATTERSON went on to point out that the Canadian clubs in the W.I.L., Victoria and Vancouver, have to play seven home games a week and with no Sunday ball, must operate every night with two games Saturday. "With all the eight clubs in the circuit voting in favor of split weeks it naturally called for additional traveling. We have thought of playing doubleheaders on a Wednesday night, but that is out as the games would not be finished in time for the visiting team to connect with the midnight boat for Vancouver to start play Thursday. Every year the eight-team representatives spend hours drafting a schedule with the idea of satisfying the teams, fans, and making things as easy on the players as possible. There are so many problems to be met it is impossible to steer clear of all the hardships."

ATHLETICS meet up with a lot of baseball during the five days from July 1 to 5. That part of the schedule as far as the Victoria and Tacoma teams are concerned has all the earmarks of a first-class nightmare. The clubs play doubleheaders here July 1 and 3, with a single game jammed in the night of July 2, then jump to Tacoma for successive twin bills July 4 and 5. Just imagine what shape the seven-man pitching corps are going to be in after that merry-go-round. The chuckers will be setting up a union to protect themselves from unfair tactics.

AFTER having tried since the start of the baseball season to make a deal with Fort Worth and the parent Brooklyn Dodgers to turn out with Victoria Athletics, Reggie Clarkson told me today he is going to have to report to the Texas League club if he wants to resume his diamond career. Clarkson would even have been willing to return to Vancouver Capilanos from whom the Brooklyn organization drafted him, but it was no go. From all appearances Brooklyn wants Clarkson to report to Fort Worth or stay out of baseball. Reggie is going to find it tough to break into the Fort Worth line-up without the advantage of spring training and regular play.

BOX LACROSSE LINE-UP

Jokers' line-up for tonight's senior box lacrosse game with J.B.A.A. at Stevenson Memorial Park at 6.45 follows: Hetherington; McMillan, Joyce, Temple, Ellis, Douglas, Walter, Stewart, Banks, Harding, Rhodes, Scotney, Pellow and McLellan.

Indians-Braves Prove Effective Under Arcs

Cleveland Indians and Boston Braves owe their lofty standing in the major leagues to their exemplary behavior after dark.

The Indians, leading the American League by three games with a .689 percentage, also own the best night game record of any club. Led by their ace, Bob Lemon, the Tribe has won eight and lost two arc-light games for an .800 percentage, but has played only five night games.

The Braves, tied with the New York Giants for first place in the tight National League pennant race, have won nine and lost four at night, a .692 gait. That is exactly 178 percentage points better than their daylight won and lost record. Only the Philadelphia Phillies, winners of eight of 11, boast a better record in the senior circuit.

BRECHEEN BEST

The best night pitcher in the majors is Harry Brechen. The Cardinal southpaw has won five and lost only one. His lifetime record under the lights is a sensational 34-10.

Lemon, the majors' biggest winner, has been the most effective pitcher in the American League at night. He has won four while losing one.

Bobby Feller of the Indians, who owns 21 victories and 13 defeats in after-dark contests, has made only one start under the lights this season. Although he pitched 11 scoreless innings against Washington, he was not around at the finish. The Indians finally won that game 5 to 0 in 15 innings. Feller last year won nine and lost three at night.

All of today's games in the American League will be played under the lights. The Tigers will play their first home night game in history, engaging the Philadelphia Athletics.

V.H. Blacks Play Esquimalt In Final

Behind the steady two-hit pitching of righthander John Moffatt, Victoria High Blacks downed Victoria High Golds 9 to 4 to gain a first-place tie with Esquimalt in the Interhigh Baseball League. Game to decide the league champs has been tentatively set for Thursday.

Winners opened up with a pair in the last of the first, added four more in the third and another in the fourth, before Golds finally hit the score column with a singleton in the sixth.

Archie MacIntosh and Bagat Singh led Blacks at the plate, each with two for four.

Short score follows—

	R.	H.	E.
Golds	4	2	2
Blacks	9	8	1

Campbell Postpones Racing Tests In B.C.

REIGATE, Surrey, Eng. (Reuter)—Sir Malcolm Campbell Monday announced a postponement for one year of his planned trip to British Columbia to carry out tests of his Bluebird racing boat.

The postponement was necessary, he said, because of "the abnormal floods" in the locality of Lake Okanagan where he had planned to make high speed tests of the jet-propelled boat in which he hopes to break his own record.

"He is therefore taking this opportunity of undergoing a further opthalmic operation," at a London hospital this week, the statement said.

Prior's 3-Hitter Marks Bombers' Win Over Pitzer And Nex

With their ace righthander Bill Prior tossing a neat three hitter, Ben's Bombers last night increased their lead in the Senior Amateur Baseball League by hammering out a 10 to 1 triumph over Pitzer and Nex.

Prior whiffed 13 men and lost his shutout in the sixth inning when Reynolds circled to score an unearned run.

Bombers only garnered seven hits from the combined offerings of Jack Fidler and Rosy McLellan but losers committed seven errors and majority of these were responsible for runs.

Winners scored three runs in the second, two in the fourth and another pair in the sixth. Bill Prior aided his own effort with a three-run homer in the eighth. Rookie Wright topped the batters with two for four.

Tomorrow night Eagles meet Navy at Macdonald Park at 7.

MINOR BASEBALL

Tillicums tripped Bottle Exchange 9 to 8 in a midget baseball game last night as Doug Stewart singled home the winning run in the last half of the eighth innmg. Forbes was the winning pitcher. Spencers, Tillicums and Bottle Exchange are tied for the league leadership.

British Athletes Pointing For Several Gold Medals In Olympiad

LONDON (AP) — Germany unofficially "won" the 1936 Olympic Games at Berlin and the United States was the unofficial "winner" in 1932 at Los Angeles.

But Britain, as host this year, anticipates no such local sweep. Britons scored a total of 108 1-11 points at Berlin, compared with Germany's 628¾ and the 451½ scored by the United States.

Britain will be satisfied to do a good job of entertaining the 58 other competing countries, July 29 to Aug. 14. If the entertaining job is supplemented with handful of gold medals, Britons will be more than satisfied.

Jack Crump, honorary manager of Britain's Olympic track and field team, says Britain — actually looking ahead to the 1952 games in Helsinki—may not win an Olympic track and field title this year but his team should place men in several of the finals.

Britain's best chances appear to be in the marathon, the 50,000 and 10,000 metre walks, boxing, field hockey, cycling, rowing, shooting, yachting and perhaps swimming.

HOLDEN HAS CHANCE

Jack Holden, runner-up in the last two Olympic marathons, might make the grade on the country roads he knows so well. Although 40 years old, Holden is accustomed to the British humidity, an important factor over the course of 26 miles and 385 yards.

The weather also may help the other long distance men—Harry Forbes, 35-year-old Birmingham engineering instructor, in the 50 kilometre road walk and Harold G. Chufcher, favored to win the 10,000 metre track walk. Forbes was runner-up at Berlin.

Britain has no illusions about challenging the United States in sprint and field events, nor of matching Sweden in middle distance races.

Maureen Gardner stands the best chance of winning a title. She is training for the 80 metre hurdles, which she has covered in 11.5 seconds, only two-fifths off the women's world record shared by Claudia Testoni of Italy and F. E. Blankers-Koen of Holland.

The 19-year-old ex-ballet dancer is engaged to her coach, Geoffrey Dyson, and they hope to make the gold medal the showpiece of the family sideboard after they marry.

In boxing, Britain, which hasn't won an Olympic title since 1924, hopes to gain at least one at Wembley Stadium, where home boxers always do well against continentals. Max Schacklady, who beat welterweight champion Johnny Ryan in the recent European amateur tournament, looks like a good bet.

In cycling Britain will suffer its biggest setback if Reg Harris, 19-year-old world amateur sprint champion, doesn't win a gold medal. He leads a strong team which threatens to break Italian domination of Olympic cycling.

GOOD HORSEMEN

British horsemen always are hard to beat. Horses and riders have been in training since March at Aldershot. The youngest of the veteran riders selected for the team is 26-year-old Brian Butler.

Britain's amateur football players may benefit from the coaching of Matt Busy, manager of Manchester United, crack pro team. Right now the amateurs are far behind continental outfits, especially the Dutch, French and Swedes.

Superior knowledge of the Bisley ranges, where the light and wind are tricky, should help Britain's team of riflemen and pistol experts. The team will be drawn from rifle clubs and the armed services.

Ball In Line With Left Inside Heel; Feet Are Closer As Clubs Shorten

Claude Harmon's stance is begun by lining the ball dead centre between the heels. The ball is always in line with the inside of the left heel regardless of the length of the club.

By CLAUDE HARMON
Master of the Masters

Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N.Y.—In the stance the phrase "the ball is never moved" means that regardless of the length of the club, with the exception of the putter, the ball is always in line with the inside heel of the left foot.

The stance is begun by placing the heels together with the ball dead center between them. The distance from the toes to the ball is determined by the length of the club.

The stance for the driver, as illustrated in the accompanying photos, is obtained by moving the right foot to the right. The left foot remains stationary. The distance the foot is moved is determined by the width of the shoulders. This is done for balance.

In the graduation down of clubs —the driver is the longest—the left foot remains in the same position in its relation to the ball, with the right foot again moved out. This distance shortens as the clubs get shorter. Also as the clubs become shorter, the feet are closer to the ball.

The important thing to remember is to avoid peculiar twists of the body or rigidness. Always feel natural.

Distribute your weight equally on the feet.

Keep the body straight.

Yakima-Wenatchee In Baseball Deal

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Lou Estes, hard-hitting Wenatchee outfielder, has been traded to Yakima and was slated to start in the outfield for the lowly Western International League Packers tonight against Bremerton.

Dick Richards, general manager of the Packers, said Yakima acquired Estes in trade for infielder Neil Bryant. Estes is hitting .314.

Jim Estrada, who batted .278 for Bremerton last year, has also been sold to the Packers and will take Bryant's place in the infield, Richards said. Estrada has been attending college this spring. His contract was purchased from the Tars.

Richards also announced the outright release of shortstop Bud Fortier, former University of Oregon star. Fortier was sent to the Packers by the San Francisco Seals of the Coast League.

Splashketball Born To Sports Calendar

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—They combined basketball with water polo here yesterday and a new sport called "Splashketball" was born.

Two four-man teams operated in a hotel swimming pool, passing a basketball around with the idea of tossing it into a basket suspended at either end of the pool. The diving and carrying the ball under water as permitted in water polo, was out in the new game, however.

Rundown Feeling May Be Often Caused By Nervous Trouble

Strained, tense nerves are often the cause of restless nights. Improper rest, night after night, is quickly followed by loss of appetite, irritability and a tired, run-down condition.

For disorders such as these, Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills are highly beneficial. The iron and other ingredients they contain help to improve the blood content, stimulate the nervous system, and the appetite, aid digestion, thus helping to promote sleep. Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills are sold at drug counters everywhere.

East Coast Lobsters Apparently Don't Like Lagoon Near Nanaimo

It looks as if the east coast lobsters planted as an experiment at Lasqueti Lagoon near Nanaimo two years ago have "swum the coop" or have succumbed in the new environment.

George Alexander, deputy minister of fisheries, said today federal fisheries department biologists have been able only to trap one of 1,720 of the crustaceans transplanted.

"It doesn't look good," he said. "We don't know if they have died, or what. And we may never know."

The lobsters were brought to the Pacific coast by a large fish-packing firm in co-operation with the two governments, on a trial to determine if they could be grown in B.C. waters.

THIRD TRIAL

It was the third such experiment. The first two were unsuccessful. In one of them, lobsters were transplanted in Sooke waters.

The provincial government provided Lasqueti area for the trial which is supervised by federal fisheries employees.

Mr. Alexander said the lobsters, when planted, were in good condition and seemed to thrive at first.

In the last year the federal biologists have been endeavoring to trap them, but the lagoon appears to be empty.

They are continuing their efforts, nevertheless, and soon may have an answer to the question. The lagoon is deep and large and has a submerged dam at its entrance to open water.

Take Pedestrian Count June 26; To Go Farther Out This Year

Pedestrian traffic count held by the city once a year, to indicate the trend of movement on the various downtown streets, will be held June 26 from 11 to 12 noon, and from 3 to 4 in the afternoon, Harry G. Allan, acting assessor and collector, said today.

The count is eagerly awaited, particularly by business men and realtors for it indicates present trends of pedestrian traffic.

"Over the past two years the trend has been farther up Yates and Fort Street and farther north and south on Douglas," Mr. Allan said, adding that the city has taken an annual pedestrian traffic count for about 20 years.

"We used to station a man halfway up Fort Street from Douglas in former traffic counts, but this year we will probably have to have the count taken as far up as Blanshard and probably Quadra in order to get an accurate picture."

Forty-five to 50 men and women are employed especially for the one-day job and carry hand tally counters, to number the pedestrians as they pass any given point in the downtown area.

Girl Injured In Bike-Car Collision

Kathleen Wilson, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil R. Wilson, 1322 Ivy Place, was taken to Jubilee Hospital by city police this morning with possible serious injuries as a result of an accdent at Kings Road and Cedar Hill Road at 8.30.

A bicycle rider, the little girl was in collision with a car driven by Wilmot Ann Gouge, 2134 Ferndale Road.

When police arrived on the scene they found Miss Wilson unconscious. She still had not regained consciousness several hours later.

She is being attended by Dr. Russell B. Robertson, who reports his patient suffering from concussion and other possible injuries. X-rays will have to be taken to determine whether her skull is injured.

Sgts. W. Andrews and R. Davidson and Constables A. J. Wilson and A. Nichol attended for the city police. They report the girl was riding east on Kings and the auto was proceeding south on Cedar Hill.

It is believed the girl's head struck the left front door of the auto. A protruding piece of the car struck her on the right ear, police believe.

$16,857 For Flood Fund Given Today

Further contributions today totaling $16,857 have been received by Royal Trust for the Fraser River Flood Fund, bringing the total fund contributions in this area to $113,253.

Today's contributions included: $10,616 from provincial government employee payroll deductions; $1,000 from Provincial Government Employees' Association; $4,000 from Saanich Council; $1,240 from other Saanich sources, and $4,596 from banks in the area.

School Employees Oppose Fare Raise

City Council was urged to reject the application of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. and V.I. Coach Lines Ltd. for a fare increase, in a letter received at City Hall today from the Greater Victoria School Board Employees' Association.

The letter signed by S. J. Ross, secretary-treasurer of the association, said members at the last meeting opposed any rate changes in the present franchise agreement.

"It was felt that the rates now in operation were quite sufficient for the transportation available and that the weekly pass agreed to by the companies and approved by vote must be continued," Mr. Ross wrote.

Greater Victoria Memorial Day Committee held its final meeting at the City Hall today and approved expenditures in connection with Memorial Day services on June 6. Ald. F. N. Cabeldu, chairman, presided.

Gertrude Atherton Dies, As Months Ago She Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Novelist Gertrude Atherton is dead, victim at last of the years she had so long defied.

As beguiling and as timeless as many of her nearly 60 novels, she had steadfastly refused to grow old—until her 90th birthday, last Oct. 30. Then, at a civic ceremony in her honor, she said she was growing weary, would write no more, and "don't expect to live more than a year longer. . . ."

Death came late Monday at Stanford Hospital, where she was admitted May 27 after a light stroke.

Mrs. Atherton ignored the polite, ladylike novels of her day—yet her books delighted, as well as shocked, her readers. Her first, "The Doomswoman," appeared in 1892; her last, "My San Francisco — A Wayward Biography," in 1946.

On her 90th birthday, Mayor Roger Lapham presented a gold medal. Eyes sparkling, Mrs. Atherton suggested the French had a custom for such occasions, and turned her cheek. She got the kiss.

Miss Ravenhill To Receive Honor

VANCOUVER (CP) — Miss Alice Ravenhill of Victoria tonight will be honored by the Royal Society of Canada when she will be awarded an honorary degree of doctor of science.

Miss Ravenhill, now in her 90th year, organized the British Columbia Indian Arts and Welfare Society 10 years ago. She is president emeritus of the society.

She climaxed a successful career in public health, home economics and child welfare by becoming an authority on B.C. Indian arts and crafts after her retirement in 1919.

Dr. Stewart Dies Here

Dr. George Grant Stewart of "Pendarvis," 3932 Telegraph Bay Road, who was at one time chief administrator of the Department of Pensions and National Health for Alberta, died here Sunday.

He had resided in Victoria for the past 11 years and formerly lived in Edmonton. He was a native of Bristol, County Pontiac, Que. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, interment at Royal Oak.

Income Tax Relief For Firefighters

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian wartime firefighters will not be liable for income tax for the time they served overseas, it was announced today.

Maj. Leslie Mutch, parliamentary assistant to Veterans' Minister Gregg, told the veterans' committee of the Commons he had been authorized by Finance Minister Abbott to make the announcement.

A total of 408 men served in Britain with the Corps of Firefighters, but only about 150 per cent of them made enough to be taxable. Mr. Mutch said those who had paid tax would be reimbursed.

The statement came as spokesmen for the corps appeared before the committee to ask that they be given the same rehabilitation benefits as veterans of the services.

LONDON (CP) — Premier Drew of Ontario today discussed with government officials proposals for permitting branches of British industries to be established in Ontario.

Labor Suggests Plebiscite On Fare Increases

Opposition to any increase in transportation fares in the Victoria area until public hearings have been held at which all facts and figures pertaining to the requests for increased fares are presented and until a plebiscite has been held to ascertain the feeling of the public on the question, was recorded yesterday by a meeting of the Victoria Labor Council, C.C.L.

Unanimous endorsation was given a motion "reaffirming our opinion that the reimposition of milk subsidies is a far more practicable way of meeting the problem of the dairymen and condemning the proposed price increase for milk as likely to decrease the consumption of milk and injure rather than help the farmers."

The council condemned the recent drastic increases in meat prices since figures quoted to the council show that meat packers are making far more than an adequate profit.

The council unanimously endorsed actions of the executive in sending donation to Flood Relief immediately call was received. Members were urged to support the fund.

The council went on record as endorsing the motion of the Canadian Seamen's Union on the Great Lakes. Wires will be sent to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Transport Minister Chevrier asking that licenses be suspended if the Canada Steamship Lines, the Sarnia and Colonial Steamship Lines and others on the Lakes, continue to flout the labor laws of Canada, it was decided. An immediate cash donation to help the C.S.U. was ordered.

Report Russians Occupy Station

BERLIN (Reuter) — The German news service Dena today reported that armed Russian troops had occupied the Berlin radio station which is situated in the British sector of the city, but later asked subscribers to withdraw the report.

The agency gave no explanation for its request.

Hook-Tender Killed

Leslie Henderson, a hook-tender at the Bell and Campbell logging operations on Harbledown Island, was killed Monday.

Provincial Police here, who received word of the death today, said an inquest is being held this afternoon at Alert Bay.

No details will be available until after the inquest.

Security guard at V.M.D. No. 2 Yard this morning reported to city police a $100 Ingersol grinder had been stolen from the yard between Friday night and yesterday. The operator, returning to work Monday, found the hose cut and the machine missing.

William E. Webster, found guilty of dangerous driving, was fined $40 and had his driver's licenses suspended for one month by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today. His vehicle was in collision with a car driven by Thomas I. Cormack in the early morning of May 30 at Broad and Yates Streets.

R. R. F. Sewell, secretary of the Union of B.C. Municipalities wrote M. F. Hunter, city clerk today, stating the city would be advised of the time and place of the U.B.C.M. convention as soon as possible. Several municipalities objected to holding the convention aboard a ship and other arrangements must be made, Mr. Sewell wrote. Resolutions to go before the convention must be forwarded by July 1.

Recommend Stump Which Caused Fatal Accident Removed

Removal of the stump which caused the fatal auto accident on Hagan Road, Brentwood, was recommended today by a coroner's jury which inquired into the death of 32-year-old Elov Sven Sivertson, who was killed almost instantly at 2.47 Sunday morning. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

ELOV SIVERTSON

According to the evidence of Constable Robert Adrian the 3,200-lbs. delivery truck which the victim was driving climbed up the side of the stump and turned over. The door came open and the driver was partly pinned down by the truck.

Miss Florence Woodward, Beach Drive, a passenger in the car, said the accident happened in a moment. "I just remember a crash and then I had a blackout," she said.

The witness said when she came to she could get out of the vehicle but could not see the victim. Finally she blew the horn to attract attention to the overturned vehicle.

Sivertson was taking her home, she said, after a party at the home of Victor Dawson.

DIED AT ACCIDENT SCENE

Dr. Ernest Whitehouse, Brentwood, said the victim was dead when he arrived at the scene. Police took Sivertson to the Jubilee Hospital in the hopes that there might be some signs of life.

Victor Dawson testified that the victim left his home in a fit condition to drive. He heard the car crash about 500 feet from his house and upon reaching the scene found Sivertson pinned down by the vehicle.

All witnesses testified that there was a slight curve in the road, the road was wet, and visibility poor.

Indian Society Sends Resolutions To Government

Recommendations of the Conference on Native Indian Affairs held in Vancouver in April have been forwarded for the consideration of the parliamentary committee on the Revision of the Indian Act in Ottawa, it was announced by Ellen Hart, secretary of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society here.

Among the many recommendations is a request for the full co-operation of the government in fostering the marketing of native Indian crafts and arts through the National Park Services of Canada.

Improved housing and water supply on the reserves as well as increased attention to preventive treatment of tuberculosis, is also recommended. The conference also asked for better housing conditions for natives.

Old age pensions, increase social service work, were also endorsed by the conference.

The conference recommended the continuance of the system of sending Indian children to white schools whenever possible.

"Unfortunately there is still a prejudice among some school boards in regard to the admission of Indian children to white schools, a resolution from the Victoria Society read: "We are prepared to assist in a campaign to fight this prejudice. We wish to point out that the exclusion of Indians from these schools perpetuates the very conditions of which the school boards complain.

Russia Expected To Renew Fight Against Pacific Islands Mandate

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (CP)—Russia is expected to renew her fight today to put three chains of United States-held Pacific islands within range of the United Nations veto.

The former Japanese mandated islands, comprising the Marianas, Carolines and Marshalls, are being occupied and administered by the United States under a U.N. strategic area trusteeship. They include such bases as Guam, Saipan, Tinian, Truk, Eniwetok and Kwajalein.

VOTED IN APRIL, 1947

The trusteeship agreement was approved unanimously by the Security Council April 2, 1947. Since that time a battle has been under way behind the closed doors of the council's committee of experts over U.N. rights in the area.

Russia has insisted throughout that all authority be vested directly in the Security Council, where she holds the big-power veto along with Britain, France, China and the United States. The majority contends that the veto-less Trusteeship Council should be assigned most of the work.

The experts finally gave up and reported the deadlock to the parent council.

Meanwhile western powers' concern over Soviet Russia's bid to send military observers into Palestine is expected to receive its first formal airing in the Security Council.

Russian Delegate Andrei Gromyko will probably force the western powers to vote on a request that Russia be allowed to send such observers into Palestine to check any violations during the four-week truce, which entered its fifth day today.

38 Post Office Employees Get Faithful Service Badge

"Faithful service badges were presented to 38 postal employees whose combined years of service totaled 1359, at a ceremony on the main floor of the Victoria Post Office this afternoon.

G. H. Clarke, regional director of Postal Services for B.C. and the Yukon region, presented the awards to postal clerks, railway mail clerks and letter carriers, all of whom have more than 25 years service. Mr. Clarke, who is in his 48th year in the service is the oldest officer in length of service in Canada.

"The department recently adopted the policy of awarding badges to employees who have given 25 years or more faithful service and the presentation will become an annual event," said Mr. Clarke, who represented the Deputy Postmaster-General.

40 YEARS SERVICE

First to receive the award, a silver badge, with the background of maple leaf and initials C.P. for Canada Post, engraved on it, was Postmaster John B. Sinclair, who has been with the service for 40 years.

Oldest employee of the Victoria service, in point of years with the post office was H. N. Walls, a native of Victoria, who has been a postal clerk for 43 years. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Walls, pioneer residents of the city.

"When I came to the post office in 1905, there were 14 clerks and 12 letter carriers," reminisced Mr. Walls. "Today there are 70 clerks and 118 letter carriers.

"The main part of this building had only been constructed for seven years when I came. Noel Shakespeare was postmaster then."

Mr. Walls said he found his work pleasant and thought the idea of issuing badges a good one since it made the men feel there was some recognition for service.

'TO SERVE THE PEOPLE'

The badges presented to the men bore a Latin inscription meaning "to serve the people."

Here are the names of the employees receiving badges with the number of years service:

J. B. Sinclair, postmaster, 40 years; H. N. Walls, postal clerk, 43 years; W. C. Hartnell, postal clerk, 41 years; P. H. Walker, letter carrier, 40 years; W. C. Cave, postal supervisor, 38 years; H. G. Humber, postal supervisor, 38 years; A. Stocks, postal clerk, 38 years; S. R. Webb, postal clerk, 37 years; H. Clark, letter carrier, 37 years.

G. C. Bloomfield, postal supervisor, 36 years; G. Malcolm, postal supervisor, 36 years; W. H. Liddiard, postal supervisor, 36 years; C. A. Neale, letter carrier, 36 years; J. H. Pollard, postal clerk, 36 years; G. P. Riley, postal supervisor, 36 years; G. L. Church, letter carrier, 36 years; J. H. Callow, postal clerk, 36 years; T. E. Bell, postal clerk, 36 years; W. J. Beeston, postal clerk, 36 years; R. H. Beare, letter carrier, 36 years; G. Severs, letter carrier, 36 years; C. W. Tubbs, letter carrier, 36 years; A. E. Brain, postal clerk, 35 years; C. H. Hinkins, postal clerk, 35 years; F. E. Rowley, postal clerk, 35 years; W. B. Cornish, railway mail clerk, 35 years.

S. White, postal clerk, 35 years; A. L. Robinson, railway mail clerk, 34 years; M. R. Tredwell, railway mail clerk, 34 years; J. E. McRoberts, supervisor postal, 34 years; P. D. Dutot, postal clerk, 34 years; G. W. Russell, postal clerk, 33 years; S. T. White, letter carrier, 33 years; A. McKay, postal clerk, 31 years; W. Miller, letter carrier, 31 years; H. A. Hurst, letter carrier, 29 years, and J. R. Cleator, supervisor, 26 years.

Edmonton To Raise $25,000 Flood Fund

EDMONTON (CP)—A $25,000 civic fund to help flood sufferers in British Columbia was agreed on by the city council here Monday night. The project was undertaken under guidance of Mayor Harry D. Ainlay, in British Columbia during the early stage of the floods.

Contribution to "Edmonton's B.C. Flood Victims' Fund" will be through the mayor's secretary or the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

The $25,000 objective is sought within seven days, though the fund will be open for further contributions for a 30-day period.

Money gathered will be turned over to the Vancouver Chamber of Commerce for expenditure by the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Red Cross.

A fine of $40 and a three-month license suspension was imposed against W. C. Lumley by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving Sunday on the Beaver Lake Park road. He was in collision with a car driven by Wilfred Sadler.

Noisy Burglar Defeats Himself

A city home burglar was scared off before reaching his goal last night when the noise he made after entry awakened the lady of the house.

Mrs. C. Temple, 845 Richmond Avenue, telephoned city police at 11.05 reporting there was a prowler at her basement door. Strange noises had awakened her.

Constables R. Reekie, J. Strong and F. Colli found the house-breaker gone on arrival. There was plenty of evidence to show a prowler had been there. The screen of a screen door at the back had been cut out and the catch released. It is possible he intended to take a radio as it had been removed from its position and placed on the floor. Actual entry was made through a basement door which Mrs. Temple said had been locked. There were no signs on the door to indicate it had been forced.

Take Steps To Halt Cattle 'Rustling' In Fraser Valley

Steps have been taken by the Provincial government to halt cattle "rustling" in the Fraser Valley flood areas.

An order-in-council passed by the Cabinet Monday and made public today brings the flood area under the Brand Act and provides for inspectors on all roads leading from the areas.

The inspectors will stop any trucks carrying cattle and certificates of ownership will have to be signed, giving the government a check on movements.

Up until now the valley has been a T.B.-free area in cattle, and did not come under the Brand Act.

This has made it possible for "rustlers" to pick up cattle in the valley and truck them to Vancouver for sale to meat packers.

Dominion Flying Clubs Celebrate 21st Birthday

Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association marks its 21st birthday this week. In observance of the occasion, the Victoria Flying Club will hold open house from 1 Saturday afternoon at its clubroom and hangar at Patricia Bay.

Throughout the week, the association, claiming 42 non-profit flying clubs across the Dominion as members, is holding National Flying Club Week.

The air enthusiasts seek to familiarize Canadians with the contribution of the Dominion's flying clubs to both civil aviation and national defence.

In line with this, it is pointed out that hundreds of club-trained pilots gave early added strength to the R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. at the outbreak of war, in addition to providing initial training for provisional pilot officers in the R.C.A.F.

When the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan came into effect, 25 of these Canadian clubs took over management and operation of 22 elementary flying training schools, through which more than 41,000 pilots graduated to service flying training schools.

At the war's end and as clubs reorganized for civilian operation again and added new clubs to the association, the title "Royal" was added in recognition of war services.

Continuing the service to the country's service air strength, six air cadets, chosen by the R.C.A.F. under its scholarship plan, will be provided with 18 hours' flying training by the Victoria Flying Club and other clubs from coast to coast.

The local club participates in many other activities and its pilots will be eligible to enter Webster Memoral Trophy competitions, run off each year by the association to select the best Canadian amateur pilot. National finals will be held Sept. 2 and 3 at Calgary.

The Salvation Army is anxious to contact Walter Bernard Scott Stuart or Walter Bernard Stuart Scott. His mother is a patient in a hospital and states that her son was in the air force. He is now 31 years of age. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts is asked to get in touch with Maj. Shaw, 529 Johnson St., Victoria, or telephone Garden 7612.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Bennell and family wish to thank Dr. Harold Moore, Rev. Canon A. E. Greenhalgh, McCall Bros.' Funeral Chapel, members of Masonic Craft, Henderson Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and all who assisted during their recent sad bereavement, also the many kind friends who sent floral tributes and messages of sympathy. The messages were so numerous we regret being unable to answer them personally at this time, but wish to assure our friends that we are deeply grateful.

The family of the late William Gill wish to thank their many friends for their kind expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes in their recent bereavement.

IN MEMORIAM

AKINS—In loving memory of our dearest "Jo," Mrs. Anne Josephine (nee Wheeler), who left us sorrowing on June 15, 1944.

Do not ask us if we miss her.
For there is such a vacant place;
Oft we think we hear her footsteps
Or we see her smiling face.

For she left us broken-hearted.
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That is in our hearts concealed.

—Ever remembered by her loving mother and Ernie, brothers and sister, also grandmother and Auntie Winnie.

FOR 12 HOURS A DAY, & 7 days a week, a garage owner in Akron, no business does seek. Yet business comes in a mighty sweep, he has rents space & tools, at so much an hour. If you get puzzled, your kindly sweep, then if your car doesn't run the rains all your own. This help-a-man-to-help-himself plan, all started when the cafeteria began. To it has been added many new prices, till now you take your washing . . . to a Genox. And do it yourself ad nice a clean, you help yourself . . . and rent a machine. It's just the old story, again come true, a man likes anything . . . that he can do. Even for the kids (was a sure-fire bet it's always been the same . . . with the Mecanno set. So this new plans to fix your own car, undoubtedly will spread . . . near & far. Because for frustration what better illustration, seen in every garage across the nation. Of the man who hovers around & pecks, while the mechanic gets busy . . . the trouble seeks. Never daring to lay hands . . . on his own bus . . . the mechanics . . . do it . . . all for us. So we think this idea maybe we'll try, some springs & a frame you'll just need to buy. Then choose your own covers off the shelf, and then make your OWN chesterfield . . . all by yourself. And like the car owner, whose car didn't run, you've TRIED to help yourself . . . and HAD LOTS OF FUN.

HUMBER'S FURNITURE WAREHOUSE. Cor. Langley & View (below Gov't). Opp. The Courthouse.

ANYHOO . . . you can finish these chests of drawers all by yourself . . . 4 big roomy drawers with the newer, bigger wooden handles $19.00.

PORPOISES SOMETIMES 'FOLLOW THE LEADER' IN LONG LINE

Some kinds of whales are the largest animals to be found anywhere, but there are small members of the whale family. The small ones include the porpoise and the dolphin. Perhaps we should not speak of porpoises or dolphins as "whales," but they are closely related to the huge whales and belong to the same family.

A full-grown porpoise is likely to be from four to six feet long. It is black or blue-black above and silvery white below. When it is playing about (leaping and turning) on the surface of the ocean, the black and white come into view one after the other, in quick succession.

Dozens of porpoises may play together, and at times there are hundreds in a group. They may swim alongside one another, but there are times when they "follow the leader," swimming in Indian file. A line of porpoises a mile long may be seen now and then.

Porpoises have teeth in their mouths, usually from 40 to 50 in each jaw. These teeth are sharp and are fitted for seizing fish. The "game" of the animals is made up largely of salmon, mackerel and herrings. Sometimes the fish are chased into bays, close to shore. Cases have been reported of porpoises going a mile or two up a river in pursuit of salmon.

The skin of a porpoise is almost an inch thick, and good leather is made from it. The fat layer under the skin provides valuable oil which sometimes is used for watches and clocks. The flesh can be eaten, but is less popular than in former times.

There was a time when noblemen in England felt that porpoise flesh was fit for the best tables, and ate it with vinegar and bread crumbs. Some ate it on Friday, in the belief that the porpoise was a fish. Actually the porpoise is a mammal, since it gives milk to its young.

Dolphins are very much like porpoises, but are somewhat larger. Their average length is about seven feet, but some are shorter than that, others longer. A pure white dolphin is found off the coast of China.

For Generations
Victorians' Choice For Easy Living

SINCE 1884 when the first Times Want Ads were printed, over three generations of Victorians have chosen them to smooth the rough edges of everyday living. How well these tiny servants of the people have performed their task is illustrated by their wide acceptance and popular use today.

Down the years there's scarcely a purpose they haven't been called upon to accomplish, from spreading the glad tidings of engagements, weddings and births to recording the last personal notice, at death.

They're entrusted daily with the most confidential messages, and deliver them unerringly to those for whom they're meant. Their words are read by thousands every day in search of the latest news about what's for sale, and what's wanted to buy. Workers watch them for good paying jobs; finders for identification of losers; and house-seekers for clues to quiet, comfortable quarters.

Experience for yourself how speedily, successfully and economically any need of yours may be filled by these small performers of big deeds. Just phone B 3131 to order your Times Want Ad.

Activity In Oils Spreads

NEW YORK (AP)—Fresh buying of oil stocks spread to other groups in today's market after an early sinking spell.

Advances ranged from fractions to around three points with many issues at peak prices for the year or longer.

At 1948 highs were Standard Oil (N.J.), Atlantic Refining, Ohio Oil, Central Railroad of N.J., Radio Corp., Emerson Radio, and Gulf Mobile and Ohio. Others ahead included U.S. Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone, Illinois Central and Mission CVRP.

Canadian issues picked up somewhat on yesterday's losses. Canadian Pacific continued to gain, adding 1-8. Hiram Walker recovered 3-8. Distillers Seagrams unchanged. Dome Mines added 1-8.

Dow Jones closing stock averages:

30 Industrials 193.14, up .28

London Market

LONDON (Reuter)—The last day of the current trading period brought lower price levels to most sections of the stock exchange today.

Losses of a few pence were to be seen in all sections.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 69s 6d. Boots Pure Drug 50s 9d. Canadian Pacific £26⅝. Central Mining £20. Consolidated Goldfields 61s 3d. Courtaulds 39s 2d. Hudson's Bay Co. 84s.

Bonds: British 2½% Consols £76 3-16. British 3½% War Loans £102 13-16. British Fundings 4s 1960-90 £113¼. Brazil Fundings 5s B £81½.

Consolidated Smelters At New High

TORONTO (CP)—Base metals and golds were firmer in moderately active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials were a little easier and western oils continued a steady downward path.

Consolidated Smelters reached a new high on good fractional gains, probably caused by the announcement of an extra $3.50 dividend. Golden Manitou, Pend Oreille, Osisko and Gulf Lead were among the gainers and Waite Amulet continued strong for a new high. Falconshire, International Nickel and International Uranium were easier.

Golds firmed slightly throughout the day and several leaders showed good gains on strong trading.

Papers, steels and utilities were down in the industrial groupings as leading issues moved in narrow fractional range.

Toronto Index:

20 Industrials 188.92, off 0.48
20 Golds 86.63, up 0.21
10 Base Metals 103.81, up 1.68
15 Weste'n Oils 44.28, off 0.30
Total sales, 927,000.

NEW CAMERA MEASURES YOU FOR SUITS—Just demonstrated in New York is a new photographic device which will measure a man for custom-tailored suits. Called "photometric," it was invented by Henry Booth, president of American Textiles Limited, and developed by the Eastman Kodak Company. With tape measures tied on at key measurement points, above, the customer stands on a platform in the centre of a group of nine optical mirrors. The camera produces four different views of the customer on one negative, below. This gives a precisely-scaled model, and thus reportedly eliminates fittings.

Corsair To Visit Victoria Sunday En Route To Alaska

The luxury ship Corsair, which underwent conversion to her present shape at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., will pay a visit to Victoria Sunday en route from Oakland, Calif., to Alaska.

Among her passengers will be Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska, who is returning north after an extensive visit in the United States; Don. M. Follett, general manager of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; Frank J. Youell, vice-mayor of Oakland; Stanley A. Burgraff, vice-president of the Oakland board of port commissioners and their wives.

The Corsair will sail from Oakland Friday and is scheduled to berth at Ogden Point docks at approximately 5 Sunday afternoon for a four-hour stay. On hand to greet the officials aboard the vessel will be a delegation from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and possibly a representative from the City Council.

Complete Purchase Of Falconer Yard

The deal covering sale of Falconer Marine Industries has been completed, it was learned today.

Principal operator of the Falconer yard under the new owners will be Alan Cormack, who is managing director of Marine Services and Sales, another boat-building and repair yard located in Victoria.

Taking the leading part in the financial picture is Cmdr. H. A. McKay, Royal Navy (Ret.), who is leaving the city shortly now that the transactions for transfer of ownership of the Falconer yards are completed.

Original plans to co-relate activities of Marine Services and Sales with those of the Falconer yard have been abandoned, and the new purchase will be operated as an entity.

Dr. Stewart Wins Heine Bank Race

Dr. J. Stewart's auxiliary curiser Galatea was the winner Sunday of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's Heine Bank handicap race. Despite poor weather which including a lack of wind at the start of the race, choppy seas and rain later on, all eight vessels competing finished the race.

Results, under corrected time, were as follows: Galatea, Dr. J. Stewart, first; Lalonga, R. V. James, second; May D., Ned Ashe, third; Margaret D., A. Wright, fourth; Cherie, Dr. R. J. Wride, fifth; Richmond II, J. Holden, sixth; Salishan, Dr. G. W. C. Bissett, seventh, and Buccaneer, H. A. Wallace, eighth.

Yacht Clubs To Hold Beach Party Saturday

Capital City Yacht Club, under E. H. Henshall, commodore, will hold an oyster roast and beach party at Shell Beach Saturday evening.

The party will be held jointly with the Nanaimo and Maple Bay Yacht Clubs and a number of the local club's boats will leave Canoe Cove Saturday afternoon at 2.

Antigonish Returns

H.M.C.S. Antigonish, which has been based at New Westminster as headquarters ship for the Royal Canadian Navy's "Operation Overflow," returns to Esquimalt today to carry out seagoing commitments.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

NEW LOOK—1877

I AM INDEBTED to a friend of mine for many a chortle during the last few days, occasioned by an old but amusing collection of articles which appeared in the New York Times in the early '70's.

They were written by a columnist of the period, W. L. Alden, who later assembled them into a book which was published in 1877 under the intriguing title of "Domestic Explosives and Other Sixth Column Fancies."

And one which caught my eye and struck me as a particularly appropriate sequel to my column on American women and the vote is captioned "The Emancipated Costume."

TO ELEVATE HER SEX

ACCORDING TO MR. ALDEN, Mrs. Martha Gearing—vaguely described as of Wisconsin—was an ardent reformer whose specialty was the elevation of women.

For it was expressly in order to elevate her down-trodden sex that she designed a new garment to be known as the "emancipated costume," which was to be exhibited at the Dress Reform Convention by the inventor herself.

Mrs. Gearing was evidently a woman of initiative and imagination for her fashion note was inspired, not by what one would expect, but by a visit to—of all places—her ice-house one winter's day. The ice-house was lined with sawdust and she found it warm, despite the outside temperature.

DELICATE DESCRIPTION

IN ONE OF THOSE flashes of inspiration, to which even modern couturiers are subject, Mrs. Gearing thought "Why not line myself with sawdust and so keep cool in summer and warm in winter?"

And, says Mr. Alden, "from this happy thought was gradually developed the costume by which any woman may emancipate herself from the thraldom of fashions, the trammels of skirts and the bills of dressmakers, securing the utmost physical comfort compatible with a due deference to the present prejudices of civilization in favor of clothes."

He then went on to "delicately convey the true shape of the garment to the most modest mind," by hinting that were such a garment to be made for a small boy it would consist of a shirt and trousers combined in one all-enveloping garment—and that for a large female reformer the pattern would be precisely the same but on a larger scale.

SAWDUST SUIT

BUT THE MOST intriguing part of Mrs. Gearing's emancipated costume was in its dual character. It was made double, with a number of small compartments in between the inner and outer layers.

These compartments were provided with small valves through which could be poured sawdust to thicknesses that could be regulated to suit the wearer's taste in temperatures. Thus clothed, claimed the inventor, a woman would need only one dress a year.

"There will be no more corsets," we are told she cried exultantly, "and no more cotton." And, I could add, no more figures, for every woman wearing such a bifurcated garment, whether she were the 1877 replica of Esther Williams or the 1877 model of a reformer, would look like a deep-sea diver, waiting for the helmet, it seems to me.

SAD POSSIBILITIES

MR. ALDEN DOES not enlighten us as to whether the new sawdust look caught on, but he does say: "This costume will elevate boys, brakemen and pedlars as well as women, and all over the country those who are peculiarly exposed to contusion will rise up and call Mrs. Gearing blessed."

While the protective qualities of the padding might prove effective against physical bruising, I think it would take more than that to protect Mrs. Gearing's wounded pride should her sawdust suit ever have sprung a leak.

In such an event, I can well imagine that those who rose up and called her blessed might, under the impulse of the sawdust trail, be tempted to translate it thus: "Drat the blessed thing!"
